Council Members Disagree On Progress by Borough After Peat Marwick Report

Question: Have there been changes made in Borough Hall to comply with recommendations in the Peat Marwick Report released 15 months ago?

Answer: It depends on who is asked.

Councilwoman Lucy Mackenzie, who publicly declared in May, 1989, that Mayor and Council were moving too slowly on implementing the Borough-commissioned report's recommendations, continues to feel that nothing has changed. "It remains untouched," she said.

On the other hand, Councilman Mark Freda said that a great deal of time has been spent with some issues. The report is critical of a number of ways in which the Borough is operated and administered.

Mr. Freda said that Borough Administrator Mark Gordon has done a good deal of work with department heads to help everyone understand how the employee evaluation form is used. The report said there was overall dissatisfaction with employee performance evaluation criteria and process.

The test of this will come over the next few months, during the budget process, said Mr. Freda, when the evaluation process should be able to be tied in with salary increases.

A major recommendation of the $55,000 report was the establishment of a more formal organization in the Borough, where the Borough administrator acts as a link between the Mayor and Council and the department heads.

Under the current organization, the report said, Council members interfere in the day-to-day operation of the Borough, causing confusion.

Recycling Will Save $30,000 for Borough

Those bright yellow cans dotting Borough streets every other Monday are doing more than holding recyclables. They will be responsible for saving Borough taxpayers approximately $30,000 this year.

One hundred eighty-seven tons were recycled by Borough residents in the first three months of the program. For each ton recycled, the Borough receives a $69 credit from its hauler, National Waste. At this rate, the Borough will receive about $60,000 in credits this year, estimated Borough Engineer Carl Peters.

The Borough, however, also has to pay the Mercer County Improvement Authority (MCIA) for its share of the recycling contract. With 2.25 percent of County residents living in Princeton Borough, the MCIA will charge the

Recreation Department Gets Green Light On Soliciting Bids for Park Renovation

Borough Council and Township Committee have given the green light to the Recreation Department's consultant to solicit bids for the renovations to Hilltop Park and Grover Park.

Jeffrey Bottger of TM Associates told a joint meeting of the two governing bodies last Monday night that his firm will have completed the drawings and bidding specifications by the end of January. Mr. Bottger said that if bids were to be solicited in February, they could be received in March, when the Township expects to learn whether or not Green Acres will make a low-interest loan available for all or part of the $1.3 million project.

Mr. Bottger said that contractors are looking for work at this time of year — and this is especially true now that there is a slump in building activity. He said that on other projects in which his firm has been involved bids have come in 25 to 30 percent below estimate.

Grover Park, behind the Princeton Shopping Center, will be renovated to have three regulation Little League fields, none of which will be illuminated. Two fields, each with a 200-foot radius, will be located in the south or Acme end of the three-acre park. Both will have four-foot-high vinyl-clad fencing around the outfield perimeter and a compacted gravel "warning" track just inside the fencing.

These two fields will be oriented to the north, which in Mr. Bottger's view is perfect — no missed fly catches or strikeouts because of the sun. The third field will be located at the north end, where two basketball hoops are now, and will be oriented to the east — "second best," as Mr. Bottger puts it.

First Resident New Jersey Governor To Move into Drumthwacket Tuesday

Drumthwacket, the State's official governor's mansion, will get its first resident governor when James Florio is sworn in on Tuesday to the post to which he was elected last November.

The big white house with the portico that is set back from Stockton Street south of Lover's Lane was purchased by the State in 1967 with the intention that it be used as a gubernatorial mansion. But further up Stockton Street was Morven, the ancestral home of the Stockton family which Gov. Walter E. Edge purchased and used as his own home and later offered to the State. Gov. Edge stipulated that Morven be used as a gubernatorial mansion, State museum or historic site.

After he moved out of Morven in 1953, the stately brick home was renovated as a governor's mansion. Gov. Robert B. Meyner and his wife were the first to occupy Morven when it was under State ownership. A succession of governors were in residence for the next 25 years: Gov. and Mrs. Richard Hughes, Gov. and Mrs. William T. Cahill and Gov. and Mrs. Brendan Byrne.

Except for Gov. and Mrs. Meyner, each family had many children, and each found Morven ill-suited to entertaining large numbers of people and raising a big family.

Would Drumthwacket be better suited? Gov. Hughes commissioned a blue ribbon panel in 1968 to study the situation. The central section of Drumthwacket was built by Charles Smith Olden around municipality $29,482 of the estimated 1990 County recycling cost of $1,307,981.

By subtracting the amount to be paid to MCIA from the credits to be received from its hauler, Borough officials estimate a savings of about $30,000. The annual cost of garbage collection in the Borough — before any recycling credits — is $560,000.

Mr. Peters pointed out that if more recyclables are added to the program, or if the Borough recycles a larger percentage of waste, the savings can be higher. "If we recycle more, we can save more," he said.

1833 in the Greek Revival style on land that had been in the Olden family since 1697. In 1893, the property was purchased by Moses Taylor Pyne, who gave it the name Drumthwacket, a Scottish term meaning "wooded hill." Mr. Pyne added the wings on the east and west of the original Olden residence and developed the magnificently landscaped grounds.

For all its imposing breadth, the house is narrow front to back. The ground floor rooms are connected to one another like railroad cars, with no access except from one room to the next. But the various blue ribbon panels decided that whatever its shortcomings, Drumthwacket had attributes that would make it more suitable for a governor's mansion than Morven.

In 1981, shortly before the end of Gov. Byrne's term, a plan was announced whereby Morven would become a central New Jersey branch of the New Jersey Historical Society and Drumthwacket would become the governor's mansion.

A campaign to raise $4 million from private sources was announced. Two million dollars would be used to convert Drumthwacket into a residence appropriate to the needs of the chief executive of New Jersey. The remainder would be used to endow Morven.

The Morven-Drumthwacket Corporation was formed to raise funds and oversee the renovation of Drumthwacket. The Princeton firm of Short & Ford was selected as architect. The January 1982 inauguration of the next governor was set as the deadline for the renovation.

Taking into account the experience and advice of former governors and their wives, Drumthwacket was to be converted into a residence with private quarters on the second floor for the governor's family and public rooms on the first floor for official entertaining and meetings. It was agreed that the public rooms would be furnished with functional contemporary furniture accented by American Empire antiques dating from the same period as Drumthwacket itself.

Decision Not to Move

By January, 1982, when Gov. Kean was inaugurated, the conversion was virtually complete and $1.5 million had been raised in cash and pledges. However, Gov. Kean decided not to move into Drumthwacket, preferring to remain at his home in the Kean family compound in Livingston. He said Drumthwacket would continue to be the gubernatorial mansion in that it would be used for State ceremonial functions.

When it became known that the new chief executive and his family did not care for the renovation as it had been carried out, and especially did not like the furniture that had been selected, the ability to raise funds to pay for the renovation was severely impacted. Expensive renovations to the kitchen were removed and replaced, and the offending furniture, contemporary and 19th-century, was removed to Morven where it was sold at auction to help the New Jersey Historical Society pay off a loan it had incurred.

Gov. Kean appointed a new commission to select 18th-century furniture for the public rooms. This group in turn evolved into the Drumthwacket Foundation. John Hoff of Princeton is chairman of the 14-member board of the Foundation, and Daphne Pontius of Princeton is executive director.

Six rooms on the ground floor have been refurbished with 18th-century pieces, using private donations and loans. Artwork, for instance, is on loan from four different museums in New Jersey, including the Art Museum of Princeton University and the New Jersey State Museum.

Rooms Open to Public

These rooms will continue to be open to the public on Wednesdays from 12 to 2. Ten docents associated with the Drumthwacket Foundation are available to give tours of the rooms. Groups are welcome on Wednesday mornings but should make reservations in advance by calling Ms. Pontius at 924-3044.

Above the public rooms are the private quarters which will become Governor-elect and Mrs. Florio's home after the inauguration on Tuesday. Drumthwacket will be the scene of one of the inaugural events, a private reception for the State Legislature, which is scheduled for Sunday from 4 to 6.

Inaugural festivities will begin this Thursday with a send-off to the governor-elect by the constituents of Congressional District Three, which he served for the last 14 years. A Children's Inaugural is set for Saturday from 11 to 1 at Trenton State College, Mr. Florio's alma mater.

This event is a benefit sponsored by the Association for Children of New Jersey, a State-wide nonprofit child advocacy organization. Approximately 500 children between the ages of 8 and 11 representing school districts in each of the State's 21 counties will attend. A Children's Oath of Office will be administered by one of the students.

Prayer Service

The ceremonies on Tuesday will begin at 9 with an ecumenical prayer service at Shiloh Baptist Church in Trenton. The Rev. Margaret Payne, co-pastor of the Prince of Peace Lutheran Church in Princeton Junction, is one of the participating clergy. The American Boychoir will perform at this service.

The official inaugural ceremony will follow the prayer service at noon at the War Memorial in Trenton. Following the ceremony, the first New Jersey Inaugural Parade since 1935 will proceed from John Fitch Plaza past the State House. Some 30 groups will participate in the parade, which Governor and Mrs. Florio will lead as grand marshals.

Tuesday evening the traditional Inaugural Ball will take place at the new Garden State Convention Center in Somerset. Three thousand people paying $500 a ticket are expected to attend. Music will be by the Count Basie Orchestra, and entertainment will be by the stage, television and movie personality Ben Vereen.

After all that activity, the Governor and his wife will no doubt be glad to come home to Drumthwacket. Princeton will be proud to welcome them as its newest residents.

New Year, Old Business for Township Committee: Garbage, Road Repair, Rentals and Parks Discussed

With Kate Litvack back in the mayor's seat after a year as deputy mayor, Township Committee met to consider a full agenda in the first regular meeting of 1990.

Part of the meeting was devoted to a joint consideration with Borough Council of the Recreation Department's plans for Grover Park and Hilltop Park (see story on page 1), but there was plenty of other business as well. An ordinance stipulating that rental units be inspected every two years instead of every three years was introduced and will have a public hearing January 29.

The proposed ordinance is prompted in part by the incident in November in which seven men were overwhelmed by carbon monoxide poisoning from a malfunctioning heating system in a rental house on Witherspoon Street. The change in frequency of inspections will bring the Township in line with current practice in the Borough.

The proposed ordinance also raises the fees that will be charged to landlords for the inspection fees. Currently fees are $10 for rentals with up to two bedrooms and $20 for units with two or more bedrooms. If the ordinance is adopted fees would be $40 for structures without basements, and $50 for those with basements. A $25 fee would be charged for each reinspection.

Committee also introduced an ordinance which would raise the fees charged developers for various services performed by Township employees in connection with the development application. In all, fees would be increased in 17 categories.

TOPICS Of the Town

Copies of the proposed ordinance are available at the Valley Road building.

The public hearing before adoption was set for February 12.

Garbage Contract

There were three bid awards. Committee voted to accept award a one-year contract to National Waste Disposal for twice-weekly garbage collection in the six areas of the Township which have municipal garbage collection. Township Engineer Robert V. Kiser said he was disappointed that the bid came in offering only a five percent discount from the rate allowed by the Board of Public Utilities for private collection. Last year, the discount was 10 percent, he said.

However, National Waste Disposal will pick up heavy items discarded throughout the year as is the case in the Borough, so that these householders will not have to wait until clean-up week to dispose of unwanted items. National Waste submitted the only bid, Mr. Kiser remarked, and although it bid also on a two-year contract, he recommended accepting the one-year contract because the Township is studying the feasibility of Township-wide collection.

It is also studying pegging the garbage fee charged to homeowners to the number of bags collected rather than to the assessed valuation of the house, as presently mandated. Fred Bauer of Littlebrook urged Committee to go forward with municipal collection throughout the Township. Mr. Bauer's present hauler had discontinued service as of December 31, and he was doubtful he could get 25 contiguous residents to petition to become a garbage district.

Mayor Litvack asked the engineer and the administrator to investigate whether the hauler was allowed to abandon a customer without providing a substitute. She said she would gather a meeting of the Littlebrook residents and Committee would also consider changing the 25-resident rule.

Committee also approved the awarding of a contract for $593,512 for reconstruction and overlayment of Harrison

Street/Ewing Street from the Borough line to Route 206. The Valley Road intersection which was done a year ago is not included. There were several bidders for this project, and all the bids were below Mr. Kiser's estimated $724,000.

Construction will begin in March, and should be completed by June. The work will be done in sections to minimize the disruption to the Shopping Center merchants, and there is a penalty clause of $500 per day for work that is not completed on time in each of the sections.

Committee also approved the spending of $11,500 for tax assessment data processing services. In work session, Copmmittee approved filing the requisite form to take part in a gypsy moth aerial spray program. It decided not to undertake much-needed renovations to the dispatcher area and the courtroom at the police station because the presence of asbestos in these areas would require the building be vacated for as much as 10 days at a time.

Committee also passed a resolution of intent as a first step toward possibly refinancing the guarantee it made for the bank loan for Griggs Farm development construction with a tax exempt bond issue. At the request of Bob Cawley of Princeton Community Housing, Committee agreed to reduce the first year sewer charges for the affordable units at Griggs Farm because toilets using only 1.6 gallons per flush instead of the customary six or seven gallons have been installed there.

Open House and Leeture Set by Waldorf School

"Educating to Meet the Challenge of Adolescence" will be the theme of a lecture and open house sponsored by the Waldorf School.

Betty Staley, Waldorf teacher and author of Between Form and Freedom: A Practical Guide to the Teenage Years, will speak at 8 p.m. Tuesday. Her talk will examine the needs of pre-teenagers and explore how developing self-esteem and nurturing human values in pre-adolescent education can help children make healthy choices in adolescence. The lecture, sponsored hy a grant from the Federal Drug-Free Schools and Communities Act, will be in the Johnson Park School. Admission is free.

On Saturday, January 20, the Waldorf grade school will open its doors to prospective students and their parents from 10:30 to 2:30. The open house will include discussions with teachers, displays of children's work, refreshments and tours of the school's new campus at 1062 Cherry Hill Road.

C-Tec Will Raise Rates for Cable; New Limited Service to Be Offered

Beginning February 1, C-Tec Cable Systems will raise the rate for basic cable programming one dollar, to $21.95. Subscribers will also pay an additional one or two dollars each per month for six premium channels.

C-Tec also announced it will begin offering in February a new limited service of 34 channels at a monthly cost of $12. This service will include all network channels, local origination channels, puhlic access channels, and channels 12, 13, 31, 39, 52, 17, 25, 47, and 56. It will not include such channels as TNT, ESPN, MTV, A&E, and CSPAN.

Suhscribers opting for the new limited service will have to pay an installation fee of $45.

Four premium channels — Playboy, Disney, Bravo and Cinemax — will increase by one dollar, to $9.95 per month. Showtime and The Movie Channel will increase by $2, to $10.95.

"We have to purchase virtually all channels, and their rates have gone up," said C-Tec Vice President Mark Haverkate. "The increase will reflect the cost of these channels and bring Princeton up to rates being charged in other towns. Up to now, Princeton has been less."

Mr. Haverkate said that full details on the rate increase and the new limited service would appear in the February edition of the company's program guide, which is sent to every subscriber.

Last year, Princeton's 4,500 cable suhscribers received a $2 increase in hasic cable service, from $18.95. Mr. Haverkate said that an annual increase can be generally anticipated. He voiced hope that it would be a modest amount, "like this one."

Critical Blood Need

The American Red Cross Blood Services, Penn-Jersey Region, has announced a very critical regional need for blood. The blood shortage, the worst in many years, has led to the cancellation of elective surgeries and poses threats to trauma victims.

To help alleviate the problem, the American Red Cross, Princeton Area Chapter, is strongly urging healthy individuals between the ages of 17 and 65 who have never given blood, and past blood donors who have not given blood in more than 8 weeks, to schedule an appointment by calling the chapter at 924-2404 or 1-800-26-BLOOD.

Community blood drives will be held on Friday, January 19, from 10 to 3 at the Compri Hotel, Route 1; on Monday, January 22, from 10 to 3 at Linpro's Fox Run Apartments, Fox Run Drive, Plainsboro; and on Saturday, January 27, from 10 to 3 at the First Presbyterian Church of Dutch Neck, 154 South Mill Road, Princeton Junction.

Blood may also be given at the Princeton Medical Center.

Memorial Set Thursday For PDS Accident Victim

A private service for students and faculty will be held Thursday morning at Princeton Day School in memory of PDS senior Mark Winstanley, who was killed Friday in a motor vehicle accident.

Funeral services were held earlier this week at Trinity Church in Princeton with the Rev. Jean Smith officiating. The Rev. Daniel Skvir, Mark's advisor for the past four years, gave the eulogy.

The 17-year-old Winstanley, a resident of Kendall Park, was driving to school Friday morning in a 1973 Chevrolet truck that he had rebuilt and repainted. It was the second time that he had driven the truck since obtaining his driver's license.

As he approached the school on Route 518 in Franklin Township near the Kingston Quarry, his truck skidded on a decline on a patch of 'black ice.' Police describe black ice as a condition where water permeates an asphalt surface which becomes slippery during cold weather and is dangerous because it does not glisten.

Young Winstanley apparently lost control of his pickup around 8 a.m. and it collided head-on with a dump truck. Left in a coma by the impact, he was taken to Robert Wood Johnson University Hospital in New Brunswick, where he died shortly before noon.

No one else was injured in the accident.

Mark was a member of the school's varsity fencing team and was involved in the school's drama and assembly programs as part of a light and sound team. He was studying art history and had hoped to enter Rice University where his older brother, Jason, is a student, a student at the school reported.

In addition to his brother, he is survived by his parents, Edwin and Susan Winstanley, his paternal grandparents, Edwin and Elsie Winstanley of Stockport, England, and his maternal grandfather, John B. Taylor of Greenmount, England.

Motorists Bear Brunt Of Monday's Snowfall

The snow began quietly as a light rain Monday afternoon, but by the time motorists had to leave work for home, the rain had turned to huge flakes of snow and the area's roadways had become slippery and treacherous.

"There were a lot of disabled cars," said Lt. Mario Musso of the Township. When asked where, he replied: "All I can say is all over town." At 7:15 The Great Road near Princeton Day School was blocked by cars that were unable to make it up the hill. Even smaller grades proved hard to navigate because the wet snow made driving conditions so slippery.

The Township police docket listed four minor accidents, starting at 2. "I thought there would be a lot more," Lt. Musso commented Locations were Witherspoon Strect and Leigh Avenue, Route 27, The Great Road and Poor Farm and Mount Lucas roads.

Township police sent out calls to County and State highway departments for plowing and sanding.

Hefty Blue Cross/Blue Shield Rate Rise

An average rate increase of 24.6 percent for Blue Cross and Blue Shield of New Jersey has been approved by State Insurance Commissioner Kenneth Merin. The increase affects 600,000 subscribers in the State, more than a third of them elderly.

New Jersey's largest health insurer, Blue Cross and Blue Shield had asked for an average 33.7 percent rate hike.

The company has an overall deficit of about $230 million that it hopes to eliminate by 1992. Company officials have maintained that the 33 percent increase was needed for the insurer to regain its financial health, and suggested another increase could be on the horizon for next year.

A week after Commissioner Merin approved the increase, the State's public advocate went to court to challenge both the rate increase and the system used to set health insurance rates, which is based on sex, age and residence.

Assembly Votes Pay Raises

The State Assembly approved raises for the State's top officials for a second time, a vote necessary because their own package of pension improvements had been pulled from the legislation passed hy the Senate.

Gov. Thomas H. Kean intends to sign the bills hefnre he leaves office January 16, said the Governor's spokesman, Carl Golden.

Governor-elect Jim Florio's salary will increase from $85,000 to $130,000 under the measure, although Mr. Florio said last week he may not take the entire raise if the State's economic outlook remains poor.

Salaries for the judiciary and for cabinet members would also increase.

Unpaid Leave Guaranteed

Gov. Thomas H. Kean has signed into law a bill mandating employers of 100 or more to grant workers up to 12 weeks of unpaid leave to care for newhorn or adopted children or to tend to seriously ill family members. Smaller companies will be phased into the law for three years after the first year of the law.

Operation CAT Approved

The Assembly has approved Operation CAT, a program that has significantly reduced the number of auto thefts in New York. The bill now goes to the State Senate.

Under the bill, residents could go to local police departments and register for CAT (Combat Auto Theft) decals, which would be placed on their rear windows. If a police officer sees the car between 1 and 5 p.m., he or she would have the implied consent of the owner to stop the car and check the driver's paperwork.

Kean Continues Self-Service Gas Ban

Legislation to continue New Jersey's ban on self-service gas stations was signed into law by Gov. Thomas Kean. The only other State banning serve-yourself gas is Oregon.

Bills Approved by Assembly

The State Assembly approved a number of measures last week. These would require the report of AIDS cases and ensure the victims' privacy...require the school district in which a homeless child last lived to be responsible for the youngster's education...increase the fees paid by utilities in order to better pay for utility regulation...provide $20 million in energy assistance funds to help low-income, elderly and disabled residents pay for home energy improvements...and make the use or sale of anabolic steroids a fourth-degree crime, raising it from the current disorderly persons offense.

Wrestling Not a Sport

The State Assembly has approved a bill that would treat wrestling matches as entertainment rather than sporting events, thus remvoing professional wrestling for the jurisdiction of the State Athletic Commission, which holds it to the same sofety rules applied to boxing matches.

Passed earlier by the State Senate, the bill now goes to Gov. Kean for his consideration.

Water Bill Passed

A bill to crack down on polluters of New Jersey waters was passed by the State Assembly. Weaker than the version passed earlier by the State Senate, the revised version drew criticism from environmentalists.

The Assembly bill includes amendments which would relax penalties against water polluters, penalties that were included in the Senate version.

The weight of the wet snow pulled down wires on Loomis Court, tree branches were blocking Pretty Brook Road and wires were sparking at 9:27 on Rosedale Road.

Borough police listed only two accidents: one at 6:45 at Nassau Street near Pine, and another at 7:30 on Prospect Avenue near the eating clubs.

Friday Morning Ice

Slippery ice patches were blamed for four accidents Friday morning in the Township, including three in less than an hour on River Road which police described as "extremely icy."

At 7:05, a 51-year-old Trenton driver skidded off The Great Road and went down an embankment. She was treated at Princeton Medical Center for head lacerations.

At 7:40, a 45-year-old Princeton resident hit a patch of ice on River Road near the entrance to the sewer treatment plant, went out of control and struck a tree. She was not injured but her car, as in all four mishaps, had to he towed.

At 7:20, a 20-year-old Plainsboro driver, turning left from Route 27 onto River Road, skidded on a patch of ice and struck a pole. Exactly a half-hour later, a 25-year-old driver, also from Plainsboro, made the same left turn off Route 27 onto River Road, skidded on ice and struck a pole. She refused medical treatment.

At 2:58 Saturday morning, an 18-year-old Montvale resident skidded on an icy patch on Route 206 between Ewing Street and Arreton Road and ran off the roadway. Her car sustained extensive front end damage when it struck a telephone pole, but she and two passengers escaped injury.

Builder Will Consider Some Two-Story Space

At a concept review of a one-story shopping center proposed for Route 206 between Taylor Rental and the Herrontown 1000 office building, Regional Planning Board members urged that the builder reduce the footprint of the structure by changing it to a two-story building.

Gordon Strauss, attorney for Princeton Builder Edward Bucci, said afterwards that this s being considered. "The building may not be entirely two stories, but some space may be moved to the second level," he said.

Responding to the one-story plan, Board member Margen Penick said she was not sure there would be enough room for cars to stack as they wait to leave.

Mr. Strauss said that the potential of cars stacking is the main problem with the layout from a practical and safety point of view, and that this situation would be improved by shrinking the building's footprint.

Pointing out that the State Department of Transportation maintains total control over access to State highways, Board member Kate Litvack suggested that Mr. Bucci begin preliminary discussions with the DOT on access to Route 206.

She also suggested that an entrance from Herrontown Road be considered. This would require that an easement be obtained through the Herrontown 1000 parking lot from Developer Benedict Yedlin. Mr. Strauss said that Mr. Yedlin has declined to pursue such an easement.

The 22,400-square-foot building, on a 2.3 acre site, would have most of the parking in the rear. In order to comply with the new Master Plan, the structure would have to be moved back an additional 13 feet.

Of the 129 parking spaces required by ordinance, 105 are proposed, with another 24 to be banked.

Planning Director Duggan Kimball, noting that left turns in and out of the site onto Route 206 at peak hours would be difficult and dangerous, suggested that consideration be given to limiting the egress from the site to right turns only. In the absence of a report from a traffic engineer, this suggestion was not addressed during the concept review.

A tributary of the Van Horne Brook runs through the property, requiring that the State Department of Environmental Protection undertake a wetlands delineation study.

Noting that Mr. Bucci is "at the mercy of the DEP in turning the project around," Mr.

School Board Expected to Approve 1990-91 Budget Recommendation

At its meeting scheduled for Tuesday, January 9, the Regional School Board was expected to approved a 1990-91 budget recommendation of $24,619,188. This is a 9.4 percent increase over last year's budget. The budget, which is at the 10.4 percent cap, must be submitted to the County superintendent of schools by January 15. Since the District is not requesting a cap waiver, the budget cannot come in at a higher figure. It can, however, be lowered.

The budget includes an 11 percent increase in current expenditures over last year, from $21,046,152 to $23,525,152. Some 80 percent of the current expense budget goes for salaries and benefits.

Among the increased costs are a 19 percent rise in health insurance premiums and an increase in the cost of utilities.

This year's recommended capital budget of $240,000 will cover curb work, repaving, asbestos abatement, and work on underground tanks.

Debt service this year is estimated at $854,036, lower than last year's $932,748. District Business Administrator Robert Rader said the debt service will be increased if the $8.4 million school bond issue — to be voted on February 13 — is approved. He still believes debt service can be kept at a level payment to avoid an increase in the school tax accruing from the bond.

The budget is scheduled for a March 13 adoption, with several public hearings to be held prior to that date. Mr. Rader points out, however, that an incoming Governor is allowed 30 days to delay submission of his budget. "This would directly impact the receipt of State aid figures and information required for the School Board election on April 3," he said, noting that there have been occasions in the past when the School Board election had to be held off because there was not enough information available.

The State aid now figured in the budget — $2,490,806 — is based on full funding. Mr. Rader noted that the last time full funding was received was seven years ago. Princeton Regional last year received $2,042,315 in State aid.

The 1990-91 school budget will serve a school population projected at 2,468. This year, 2,337 students are enrolled in Princeton Regional. "Most of these students will be at the elementary level," he said, "which is consistent with projections."

The budget does not include any costs for opening Johnson Park School, which is scheduled to open in 1992. It does, however, include full utilization of Littlebrook School.

Strauss nonetheless hopes to return to the Planning Board for approval of the application in approximately six months.

Preserve Residential Use

In other business, the Planning Board denied permission to Dr. and Mrs. Alfred Cook to convert the second floor of 361 Nassau Street from residential to office use. The first floor has been used as Dr. Cook's office since 1961.

Mrs. Cook told the Board that her son, Ray, wanted to use the second floor for a design studio. She said the upstairs apartment had been used by various members of her family for the past ten years and has not been rented.

The application came up against the Planning Board's consistent reluctance to convert residences to offices. "I am very concerned about the loss of a residential unit and the tendency to do away with second floor units," said Planning Board member Lucy Mackenzie. "Many towns have dead areas because of the loss of residential units," said Ms. Penick.

Planning Board Attorney Allen Porter cautioned the Board as it judged the application: "If this is allowed for office use, it is not necessarily limited during the time the Cook family owns the building or Ray has a design studio there. It's much broader."

Concern was voiced by Board Member Marvin Reed that granting the application would accelerate further the rapid development of that district to an all-office district. This was not, he said, the intention of the original zoning. The building is located between Harrison Street and Markham Road.

General Alarm Sounded For Laundromat Fire

Princeton's first general alarm of 1990 was sounded Monday for a small but potentially dangerous fire at Princeton Cleaners, located behind the WaWa Store at 259 Nassau Street.

Ptl. David Dudeck called for a general alarm to be sounded after responding to a 12:30 call by owner Robert LoRicco. Firefighters from Princeton's three companies responded and quickly extinguished flames burning in the rear of the building. One fireman, noting the amount of cleaning chemicals inside, commented: "We were lucky."

Ptl. Dudeck said that the fire originated in a little room in the back of the laundromat where all the solvents are kept. A wire appears to have overheated, he said, causing one wall to be charred. Princeton Fire Chief Eric Karch said that the fire was probably touched off by an electrical short but the cause is still under investigation.

Exhaust fans were used to help remove smoke from the interior plus a small amount that seeped into the adjoining WaWa Market. No one was injured. Customers who had clothing in washing machines and in baskets were later allowed to enter the building to retrieve their garments.

Some 20 firemen, some equipped with oxygen tanks and masks, and five trucks and a hook and ladder were at the scene. Traffic on busy Nassau Street was detoured down side streets.

Princeton Cleaners consists of two parts, a coin-operated, self-service laundromat on one side where the fire started and a dry cleaning business. Mr. LoRicco's wife said that her husband hoped to be able to reopen the laundromat the following day.

Council Will Discuss Proposed E-3 District

Mayor and Council will hold a special meeting at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, January 17, at Borough Hall, to continue the discussion of the proposed new E-3 zone.

Preliminary discussion of this new educational zone began in November, 1989. Further hearings, however, were postponed until after the new year, at the suggestion of Mayor Sigmund.

The proposed zone would have an impact on development of the Borough's three major educational institutions: Princeton University, Princeton Theological Seminary, and Westminster Choir College.

A November meeting of Borough Council saw Princeton University officials look with dismay at some aspects of the proposed new ordinance, which is aimed at defining educational zones where there is considerable interaction with adjacent zones, particularly residential areas.

University officials expressed particular concern that laboratories and theaters would become conditional uses instead of uses of right, as they are under the present ordinance.

Changes in the zoning ordinance, it is anticipated, would specifically deal with review standards, bulk regulations (density, height, and setback), off-street parking regulations, and landscape buffering.

Council is inviting presentations, not to exceed ten minutes each, from representatives of the three educational institutions, the three neighborhoods involved, and the Regional Planning Board.

Autographed Lithograph Is Available at Benefit

Actress Brooke Shields has co-signed lithographs of a painting by Pennsylvania artist Timothy Barr that will be on sale at the Winter Dreams dance to benefit Eden Institute. Proceeds from the sales of the lithographs will give additional support to the school and to the community-based homes and employment services which are part of the Eden programs.

Ms. Shields is also a member of the honorary committee for this year's Winter Dreams benefit dance, which will be held Saturday, January 20, at the Hyatt Regency, Princeton. This year's theme, "Dreams of Scheherazade," is being created by Maggie Henderson and will invoke a dream kingdom of palaces and pavillions.

Mr. Barr, William E. Brooks, Carl Fjellman, Robert Humes, Hal McCracken, Peter Martin, Beverly Sills and Thomas G. White are also on the honorary committee. Members of the benefit steering committee headed by Ida Julian and Pamela J. Dempsey are Sheri Bireley Barnes, Steven A. Barnes, Richard A. Bilotti, Leon Christen, Petie Duncan, Irene Farley, Regina Massad, John J. Morris, James G. Napoda, Anne Sears, Hal Stein and Fay Wernik.

Two-Hour Meters Possible On Part of Nassau Street

At its meeting scheduled for Tuesday, January 9, Borough Council was expected to introduce an ordinance establishing two-hour parking on the north side of a portion of Nassau Street, running from Witherspoon Street to Vandeventer Avenue.

A number of Borough merchants have wanted the one-hour meters changed to two-hour ones, and have made their feelings known to Council. They have contended that one hour is not enough time for a person to shop and have lunch in town.

Several months ago, the one-hour meters on Palmer Square were changed to allow two hours of parking.

The ordinance, if introduced as planned, would be scheduled for a final public hearing and vote on January 23.

Car Windows Are Broken In Separate Incidents

Windows of three cars parked in the Borough were broken last week in separate incidents, police report.

During the weekend, the driver's side window of a 1988 Ford was shattered while it was parked overnight on corner of John and Clay streets. No entry was gained into the car, which is owned by a Clay Street resident.

In mid-week, a vent window of a 1988 Chevrolet was broken out while it was parked overnight on Prospect Avenue, where the owner lives. The car was entered and its interior rifled but nothing was reported missing

The previous day, a rear window of a 1987 Toyota was shattered while it was parked between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. on Palmer Square West. It is owned by a resident of Trenton.

Weichert Building Again

For the second time in two weeks, a window was broken at the Weichert Realty Building, 350 Nassau Street.

Police report that a hole was made in a front window to the right of the front door sometime last Wednesday between 9:30 a.m. and 3 p.m. Replacement cost is estimated at $600.

On December 29, Sgt. Charles Davall on patrol discovered a 6- by 7-foot front window had been broken out. Capt. Thomas Michaud said this week that the building is currently undergoing renovations and is unoccupied.

Stereo Equipment Taken From Dial Lodge Room

During the holiday break, someone forced open the door of a student's room in Dial Lodge on Prospect Avenue and stole a CD player, headphones and compact discs worth a combined $820. The theft was reported on Thursday.

On Saturday, police received a report of the theft of a camera bag from the Ivy Club on December 30 while a wedding reception was being held at the Prospect Avenue club. It contained a Nikon camera, zoom lens and flash unit valued at a combined $500. Police said the victim, a resident of Washington Crossing, Pa., was attending the reception.

While a Princeton High student was attending gym class early last week, someone removed his wallet from his backpack which he had left unattended on the bleachers. It contained $70 and ID cards.

Two Eating Clubs Visited By Trio Bent on Thievery

Two student eating clubs on Prospect Avenue were visited the same day last week by a trio of black males in their early 20s bent on thievery.

Around 8:30 in the evening, a student at the Tower Club noticed a stranger on the main floor and did not think it unusual until, on his way to the third floor, he saw two more black males in a third-floor hallway. Each was carrying a stereo component.

When he confronted the pair, one of the suspects, Capt. Thomas Michaud said, struck him in the head with the stereo component, knocking him down. While he was down, the two then punched him several times before dropping the stereo pieces valued at $550 and fleeing the scene.

Taken was a CD unit, valued at $298, from an unlocked student's room on the third floor. During the assault on the student, one of the suspects, Capt. Michaud said, dropped a baseball cap with a UNLV (University of Nevada at Las Vegas) insignia.

One suspect is described as a black male, 6-0, short hair, clean shaven, wearing a brown leather jacket and blue jeans. The second had the same physical description but was short and wearing a dark-colored jacket. The third was 5-7 and stocky, wearing white sweat pants and a down-filled jacket.

Campus Club First

Early the same morning, at 12:20, three black males with with the same description approached the Campus Club and knocked at the door. The club was closed and only two students were inside at the time, Capt. Michaud said.

The three asked if they could come in, telling the student they were local residents. Somewhat intimidated by their presence, the student did not want to deny them access, Capt. Michaud continued, and he allowed them to go to the basement TV lounge to watch television. A short time later he found them wandering throughout the club.

Later, the second student noticed some stereo parts sitting on a first-floor chair. He went to the first student, who was playing pool on the second floor, to ask him how they got there. When the students returned to the first floor the suspects and the stereo equipment — a stereo receiver, cassette deck and speakers, worth a combined $1,000 — were gone.

Capt. Michaud said the stereo items had been taken from an unlocked third-floor room, occupied by the student who had allowed the suspects to enter the club.

New Computer Complex In Montgomery Schools

The public is invited to an open house on Tuesday, January 30, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. to see Montgomery Township High School's new HyperMedia Lab. The lab features state-of-the-art Macintosh IIcx computers capable of performing sophisticated computer-aided design and drafting (CADD) applications. The equipment is housed in Egrotron work stations.

Seventy-seven percent of the new complex was funded through a $132,772 grant from the New Jersey Department of Vocational Education. The remainder of the funding, which was used to retrofit the room, came from the Montgomery Board of Education.

POSTER CONTEST WINNER: Yusuke Okabayashi of Princeton, a tenth grade student at The Lawrenceville School, displays his winning entry in the Mercer County Improvement Authority's Recycling Poster Contest. With him is Peter Yull, chairman of the Authority, who presented him with a $100 savings bond. Yusuke's poster was chosen from several hundred entries from all over Mercer County in the 10th-12th grade division.

The Crime: Fencing; Borough Man Is Charged

"A somewhat unusual case," prefaced Capt. Thomas Michaud this week, before relating an incident in which a Borough resident was charged with fencing or trafficking in stolen property.

Issued a complaint summons following his arrest and later released is Conway McGowan, 40, of John Street. He faces a January 22 hearing in Borough court.

Thursday afternoon a purse containing $50 was stolen from the Princeton Arts Council Building on the corner of Witherspoon Street and Paul Robeson Place.

The next day while Det. John Reading was in the building conducting an investigation, a call came in. The caller offered to return the stolen purse in exchange for a reward. After the nature of the call was brought to the attention of Det. Reading, arrangements were made for the caller to come in.

McGowan was arrested when he showed up at the Arts Council Building at 3 p.m., taken to headquarters and charged.

Capt. Michaud said that police had a suspect from the outset of the theft and he revealed that the suspect was Mr. McGowan.

Shoplifter Also Charged With Drug Possession

A 19-year-old Township resident, Thaddeus Reynolds of Jefferson Road, had been charged by Borough police with shoplifting, possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia, following an incident early Friday morning at the WaWa store on University Place.

According to police, the incident began at 1:45 when Reynolds was in the store with two other persons. While the two went to pay for their purchases, Reynolds allegedly walked out of the store with three packages of cookies, eating a Super Slim Jim. He entered a van parked outside.

The night manager went outside to the van and asked Reynolds to come back in the store and bring the cookies. Reynolds, police said, got out of the van, placed the cookies down on the sidewalk and then fled on University Place. Meanwhile, the other two suspects had remained inside the store.

They were questioned by police.

From them, police learned the identity of Reynolds. During their investigation, officers searched the van to see if any other items may have been stolen from the store and left there. They found the Slim Jim wrapper, a can of caramel fudge, a red jacket and a blue cloth bag. Inside the bag, the officers found a wallet with the identity of the suspect (Reynolds), a small quantity of marijuana and a marijuana pipe.

Ptl. Ronald E. Wohlschlegel called Reynolds at his home and told him to come to police headquarters. He complied When he arrived, he was charged with shoplifting items valued at $11.94 from WaWa and hit with the two drug charges.

Reynolds was later released after being issued complaint summonses calling for his appearance January 22 in Borough court.

Car Mirror Hits Cyclist; Amputates Part of Finger

A 72-year-old bicyclist suffered partial amputation of his right ring finger Thursday when his hand was struck by the side view mirror of a passing car.

The cyclist, Ansley J. Coale, 155 Edgerstoune, also sustained multiple lacerations of the rest of his right finger tips. He was interviewed an hour later by Ptl. Michael Bender at Princeton Medical Center where he had been taken by his wife, following the 5:40 accident.

There were no charges against the driver, Iris Harris, 53, of East Windsor. She noticed the broken mirror when she got home, called police and was advised of the accident.

"I saw the bike coming. I heard a noise, a loud click. I just kept going. Nobody blew horns. I just kept going, not thinking anything," Ms. Harris explained.

Mr. Coale was issued a summons for failing to ride as near to the right side as possible when operating a bicycle on a roadway.

According to the accident report, Mr. Coale was riding on the west side of Washington Road, 50 feet north of Prospect Avenue, going against the flow of traffic. He was attempting to turn left onto a bike path leading to McCosh Walk when he swung out into traffic. As he did so, the right side view mirror of the Harris car struck his handlebar, causing Mr. Coale's bike to fall to the ground.

Mr. Coale told police there was another cyclist occupying the center of the bike ramp so he swerved about two feet away from the curb to make his turn. It was then that his right hand on the handlebar was struck by the side mirror.

There was no police investigation at the scene. Mr. Coale's bicycle, police noted, was equipped with a bike lamp.

Chlorine Levels Return To Normal Amounts

After about five days of having heavily chlorinated water emerging from their taps, Princeton residents on Friday saw a return tn normal levels of chlorine. This brnught with it a return to normal levels of taste – something welcomed by those who were finding it hard to distinguish drinking water from what one might find in a swimming pool.

Elizabethtown Water Company had reported that the water had been highly chlorinated tn offset dirty water from melting, salted ice and snow that had run off into rivers

The problem was not confined to Princeton, but was present throughout Elizabethtown's service area. This includes parts of Mercer, Middlesex and Somerset Counties.

Borough Council last Thursday night — after discussing the situation — heard a suggestion from Councilman Roger Martindell that Elizabethtown representatives he invited to speak to residents on how water is processed.

During the five-day period — from Monday through Friday of last week — water chlorination was double its usual level of an average of .6 parts per million. The water containing the doubled amount of chlorine was similar to the contents of a swimming pool.

Elizabethtown officials said the high amount of chlorine were needed during this period, and that it posed no health threat.

The students are fluent in English and are sponsored by ASSE, a nonprofit, public benefit organization, affiliated with the Swedish and Finnish Departments of Education and cooperating with the Canadian Provincial Ministries of Education.

The exchange students arrive from their home countries shortly before school begins in late August and return at the end of the school year in June. Each ASSE student is fully insured, brings his or her own personal spending money and expects to bear his or her share of household responsibilities, as well as to be included in normal family activities and lifestyle.

The students are screened and qualified by ASSE. Families may select the youngster of their choice from extensive student applications, family photos, and biographical essays. Students and families are encouraged to begin corresponding prior to the student's arrival.

ASSE is also seeking area high school students to become ASSE exchange students abroad. Students should be between 15 and 18 years old and have a good academic record. Academic year and shorter-term summer vacation programs are available.

Food for Thought Offered At Princeton Adult School

There is food for thought and tonic for winter doldrums on the Princeton Adult School's winter/spring program of 72 courses. Ranging from lecture series to practical "how-to" classes, the ten-week term opens February 6. Registration by mail is now in progress, using registration forms in brochures which have been mailed to area residents and appear in area newspaper ads.

A final open registration night is scheduled for Thursday, January 25, from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Princeton High School cafeteria. Advance registration by mail is advised, since many courses fill their quota of students.

Hungry Commuters Have a New Resource: Take-Out Food Now Available at Junction

A take-out food concession selling breakfast, lunch and dinner, along with newspapers and magazines, has opened in the lower level of the Princeton Junction railroad station, New York-bound side.

Called En-Route, it is the entrepreneurial undertaking of two young women whose last names sound the same but are spelled differently. They are Cuyler Matthews and Louise Mathews, who grew up in Morristown, and have known each other since fifth grade. They later roomed together in New York City while they pursued careers as disparate as engineering and interior design.

ON THEIR WAY to a successful venture are Louise Mathews, left, and Cuyler Matthews. The black and white awning at the right is over stairs leading down to their gourmet take-out food and newspaper concession at the Princeton Junction station.

Now 31, they say they have always loved food and cooking and call themselves "food people." Cuyler has smooth blonde hair and blue eyes, Louise is a curly-haired brunette with brown eyes. Cuyler was a history major at Connecticut College; Louise earned a bachelor of science in engineering from Bucknell University.

Louise went to work with Ebasco Services, an engineering firm in New York City, which was responsible for the engineering of the Tokamak Fusion Reactor at Princeton Plasma Physics Laboratory. Assigned to the Tokamak project and commuting to Princeton over a two-year period, she noticed the lack of food services, except for a coffee vendor during morning rush hour at the Junction train station.

Eleven Other Bidders

When she heard that New Jersey Transit was going to remodel the station and was entertaining proposals for a concession in an unfinished area under the ticket office, she and Cuyler put together a bid. There were 11 other bidders, including the man who sold coffee on the platform for many years and a newspaper vendor.

Matthews & Mathews Inc. was notified in December, 1987, that its bid had been accepted. After negotiating a lease with N.J. Transit, the two principals began designing the space for maximum efficiency and obtaining financial backing from family and friends. Each has also taken out a personal loan for equipment and construction.

Obtaining state approvals from different agencies was a time-consuming process, as was installing the necessary wiring and piping to transform raw, unimproved space into a retail food concession. In between attending to design and construction details, Louise and Cuyler went to restaurant and food shows and sampled coffee blends.

Cuyler had been a chef in a natural food restaurant on Cape Cod and had done waitressing and cooking in New York City. She also worked for a Madison Avenue fabric designer and has done merchandising and window display. She has her own decorating business, Cuyler Matthews Interiors, and is juggling clients and her husband of five years with getting En-Route up and going.

En-Route opened the week before Christmas and gave out free cups of coffee its first day. To the joy of Matthews & Mathews, customers came back the next day to buy coffee at 65 cents. Along with coffee, a commuter can buy bagels, doughnuts, muffins, cinnamon rolls and pastries, juice and fruit.

Commuters can also buy lunch to take to the office: six "classic" sandwiches (roast beef, turkey, ham, tuna, chicken salad or salami), or "specialty" sandwiches, (salami and provolone on roll, egg salad with provencal garnishing on baguette, or prosciutto and mozzarella on a torpedo roll). Soup and fruit, cider or juice complete the meal.

On the way home, commuters can pick up dinner to heat at home. There is a different dinner menu each night. Last week each dinner consisted of hearty home-made soup (cheddar, leek, pea, lentil and French onion) with an equally hearty homemade salad.

This week's offerings include Tuscan chicken breasts this Wednesday, Shepherd's Pie on Thursday, vegetable lasagna Friday, lemon chicken with rosemary on Monday, and London broil with mushrooms and new potatoes on Tuesday. Homemade chili is available every day.

En-Route's chef is Adrianne Galletta, owner-operator of Galletta's Galley in West Windsor for 10 years, who was chef at Bon Appetit for the last two years. The fresh breads, muffins and pastries are baked by a company specializing in Italian and whole-grain breads, and are delivered daily.

Louise, Cuyler and Adrianne say they are still taste-testing and adjusting the menus. If she can get the recipe right, Adrianne may include "frittatta," an omelet with vegetables, in the daily fare. One of the offerings is "foccacia," a yeasty bread dough with a flavorful topping, like pizza only thicker.

And Something to Read

Commuters may pick up a newspaper without getting involved in the food take-out. Newspapers range from the Washington Post and the Philadelphia Inquirer to the New York Times, the Village Voice and the Daily News, to Barron's, Investors Daily and the Irish Echo. Specially designed red cases hold some 150 magazine titles, and there are train schedules at the cash register.

Candy bars and Callard & Bowser toffee from England are available, but cigarettes are not. "No cigarettes and no smut," says Cuyler, referring to the newspaper and magazine selections. En-Route is open from 5:30 a.m. to when the last customer off the 7:30 p.m. train leaves.

Commuters lost no time in discovering En-Route. "We couldn't believe how many people go through this station," Louise exclaims. Business is booming, especially in the morning, and Matthews & Mathews is already meeting its projections. The two principals are optimistic that they will also do a good lunch and dinner trade once word gets around.

Public Library Sets Talk On Writing Experience

Mary Lou K. Stevenson will talk about "What Happens When You Write a Book Called What's Really Important in Princeton" (especially when you're living in Princeton) on Wednesday, January 17, at 8 at the Public Library. Mrs. Stevenson will describe her experiences in writing and publishing a book about the town she lives in.

The book is a light-hearted (or unsettling, depending on the reader's viewpoint) look at social class, money, fame, accomplishment, prestige and address as elements of personal comfort. She will discuss how people in Princeton and elsewhere react to all this, as well as what inspired her whimsical fantasy.

Mrs. Stevenson's earlier book, Lady Gregory: the Woman Behind the Irish Renaissance (Atheneum, 1985), was a biography of an influential figure. Her work in progress is another biography, Being in the World: the Life of Joyce Johnstone, a holistic healer.

Hearing Is Postponed By Health Commission

For the fourth time, the Princeton Regional Health Commission has postponed a hearing regarding a July 31 incident involving Health Officer Patrick Hanson and Health Inspector Drew Scalessa.

The hearing was postponed at the request of Mr. Scalessa, who has been out on sick leave since November 1, 1989. His appointment with a cardiologist — which had been requested by the Workmen's Compensation Board — conflicted with the hearing, which had been scheduled for 8 p.m. Tuesday, January 9.

Mr. Scalessa explained in a letter to The Princeton Packet that he was harassed but that he would not state "in detail the mistreatment that has been done to (him) by Pat Hanson." His illness, he said, is a result of "harassment-induced heart palpitations."

Mary Lou K. Stevenson

The Health Commission's hearing on the harassment issue has been rescheduled to 8 p.m. on January 17.

The series of disputes between Mr. Hanson and Mr. Scalessa led to a recent decision by the Health Commission to assume responsibility for disciplinary action by removing this charge from the office of the Borough administrator.

The continuing clashes between the two Health Department staff members has been disruptive to Borough operations, according to a Borough official.

In August, 1989, Mr. Hanson was suspended for a week without pay by Borough Administrator Mark Gordon because of a loud argument with Mr. Scalessa that took place in the main office of Borough Hall. This followed another disagreement between the two in late July, in which Mr. Scalessa charged Mr. Hanson with mistreatment. This incident is expected to be the main topic at the January 17 Health Commission hearing.

Mr. Hanson had appealed the August decision of the Borough administrator to Borough Council. Before Council could take any action, the Health Commission placed the matter under its own jurisdiction.

Super Science Weekend At N.J. State Museum

The New Jersey State Museum will hold its 10th annual Super Science Weekend on Saturday and Sunday, January 20 and 21. The event is designed to introduce young people and their parents to the wonders of science, proving that "learning about science can be fun," according to David Parris, curator of science at the museum.

One of the attractions will be an animated brontosaurus created by a California company called Dinamation. The creature, which is 30 feet long, is a replica of what a dinosaur probably looked like and how it acted. The replica is a preview of a festival of dinosaurs by Dinamation, scheduled for July 15 through September 23 at the museum.

Museum volunteer Kenneth Langer will demonstrate fossil cleaning and preservation; members of the Delaware Valley Paleontological Society will be on hand during Super Science weekend and there will be a series of lectures about dinosaurs. There will also be a multi-media presentation about electricity and planetarium shows about the solar system and lasers.

Chemistry and physics will be highlighted with experiments and demonstrations. Members of the National Space Society will promote the future of space travel, and representatives of the Mercer County Improvement Authority will show visitors how to take advantage of natural resources.

Programs will begin at 9 on Saturday, January 20, and at noon on Sunday, January 21. Events will continue until 5 each day. Visitors are encouraged to arrive early. Most of the continuous demonstrations are free and do not require tickets.

Some events, such as the space exploration program in the planetarium, are free but require tickets for admission. The Electric Circus, Laser Magic and Wizards of Chemistry require tickets that range in price from $5 to $1. Tickets for Laser Magic at $5 may be purchased in advance by calling 292-6333.

Area Restaurant Owner Provides TASK Dinner

Part of the annual Trenton Area Soup Kitchen (TASK) Christmas dinner was provided by the employees of Francesco's Ristorante in Trenton and by its owner, Nancy DiMeglio, a resident of 22 Terhune Road.

In addition to preparing collard greens and providing fresh fruit and pies for about 350 clients, the restaurant provided toys for 86 children and gifts for many of the adult clients.

According to Patricia Dorsey, TASK executive director, one of the key reasons the soup kitchen is able to provide more than 55,000 lunch-time meals annually with an operating budget of less than $115,000 is because of the many food donations it receives.

At Thanksgiving, Revere Travel and a number of Hopewell and Pennington area churches donated turkeys, which were cooked by various

Management of Growth Topic of MSM Lecture

In the first lecture of its 1990 series, the Middlesex-Somerset-Mercer Regional Council (MSM) will present Elizabeth Plater-Zyberk, an architect, who will give a talk entitled "Designs for Growth Management" on Thursday, at 7:30 at the Woodrow Wilson School of Princeton University. The evening will start with a reception in the Woodrow Wilson School lobby at 7 and is open to the public.

Ms. Plater-Zyberk and her husband, architect Andres Duany, have become known for projects which offer an alternative to suburban sprawl. Their firm, located in Miami, Fla., views the ills of suburbia — traffic congestion, extended job commutes, social isolation and visual blight — as solvable through design which features integrated communities modeled on America's traditional small towns. The firm developed the Trenton Downtown Redevelopment Plan for the Capital City Redevelopment Corporation and has been widely recognized for its work on the town of Seaside, Fla.

The firm of Ms. Plater-Zyberk and Mr. Duany includes 25 people in its Miami office, as well as satellite offices in Maryland and Boston. Both architects also maintain active academic lives. Ms. Plater-Zyberk is associate professor and director of the master of architecture program at the University of Miami. She serves as a trustee of Princeton University.

The firm's projects have been recognized with 18 awards in the last five years and in over 100 books, journals and periodicals. Ms. Plater-Zyberk is a member of the American Institute of Architects Special Education Task Force. She received a B.A. in architecture and urban planning from Princeton University and the master of architecture from the Yale School of Architecture.

A panel of area experts will be invited to respond to Ms. Plater-Zyberk's comments as part of the MSM presentation. Seating is limited. To make reservations or request directions, call the MSM office at 452-1717.

PROUD OF THEIR SCHOOL, and wanting others to know about it are, in front, Natalia Deligne, Charlie Denby, Faith Taylor, Jesse Mowles-Aring and Maya Groves. In back are Graham Ober, Staci DeMeo and Jerry Dalglish. The open house at Princeton Friends School will be held Saturday from 2 to 4.

World of the Etruscans: Slide Presentation, Talk

"The World of the Etruscans" will be explored in a slide presentation and lecture Sunday at 5 p.m. at Dorothea's House. Maria Teresa Moevs, professor of classical archeology in the Department of Classics and Archeology at Rutgers University, will give a survey of the land, people, language, religion and art of the Etruscans, the most advanced civilization of pre-Roman Italy. From about 800 B.C., the Etruscans gained control over much of the Italian peninsula, inhabiting what was then known as Etruria, and had a strong influence upon early Rome.

The lecture will be given in English, after which a refreshment evocative of Etruscan cuisine will be served.

Dorothea's House is located at 120 John Street. For more information on this lecture, or to find out about other events at Dorothea's House, call 924-9713 or 924-6189.

Owls to Assist Speaker At Area Audubon Meeting

Len Soucy, founder of The Raptor Trust in Millington, will be the guest speaker at the Washington Crossing Audubon Society meeting on Monday. All of the State's resident owls, including some of the lesser-known winter visitors, will be shown and discussed in a slide presentation. Two live owls, who are residents at the Trust, will assist Mr. Soucy in his lecture on the biology and ecology of these nocturnal birds.

The program will begin at 8 p.m. in Stainton Hall, The Pennington School, Delaware Avenue, Pennington. Refreshments will be available at 7:30. The public, including children, is welcome, and there is no fee.

Open House Planned By Nursery School

The Presbyterian Cooperative Nursery School will hold an open house on Saturday, from 10 to noon.

Held at Nassau Presbyterian Church, the Nursery School offers morning classes for 2½ year olds through Pre-K's. Orientation will start promptly at 10:15, and will provide information about the school's programs, philosophy and history. Babysitting will be available and refreshments will be served.

Openings Are Available In YWCA Writing Class

A class for beginning writers, which meets on Tuesdays from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the YWCA, still has openings.

Led by Kathie Meeker, former teacher at the Princeton Day School, the course focuses on strategies for uncovering the writer's creativi-

American Country Home Subject of Special Talk

Roger W. Moss, executive director of The Athenaeum of Philadelphia, will present a special lecture on "The American Country House" at the Historical Society's annual meeting on Thursday, January 18, at 8 p.m. in Room 101 of McCormick Hall (the Art Museum building), Princeton University.

SYMPOSIUM PLANNED: Lois Young, left, director and co-founder of the Newgrange School, and Marga Dillow, adult programs director at the YWCA, meet to plan the conference on the impact of learning disabilities on families that will be held Saturday, January 27, from 9:30 to 3:30 at the YWCA.

Dr. Moss's lecture will be an illustrated survey of American country houses from the 17th through the 20th centuries. It will feature homes ranging from Stratford Hall, the Lee family ancestral home in Virginia, to William Randolph Hearst's California estate, San Simeon. The talk will explore the plantations of Colonial America, the classical villas of the Schuylkill and Delaware Valleys, the romantic villas of the Hudson River Valley, and the chateaus built for the robber barons.

Among Dr. Moss's many publications are Victorian Interior Decoration, 1985; Victorian Exterior Decoration, 1986; the Biographical Dictionary of Philadelphia Architects, 1985; and in 1987, Lighting for Historic Buildings. He is also adjunct professor at the University of Pennsylvania in the Historical Preservation Program. His book, The American Country House, on which his talk for the Historical Society is based, will be published by Henry Holt & Co. in the fall of 1990.

The lecture is free of charge and open to the public. It will be followed by light refreshments. For further information, call 921-6748.

Peat Marwick

"There are still times when we interfere too much with the staff, causing problems," acknowledged Mr. Freda.

Commenting on another recommendation, he said that department head meetings are now held more frequently than before, but didn't think they were held weekly, as the report advised.

Peat Marwick suggested that a detailed, accurate documentation of job descriptions, policies, and procedures be developed. "A lot of work has been done in this area," said Mr. Freda.

Is the Borough undertaking an assessment of specific user and operating requirement needs prior to introducing and expanding information systems, as the report advised? "We are progressing with converting people to computerization," said Mr. Freda.

Another recommendation was that the Borough perform a review of current and future space and equipment needs. This has been done, said Mr. Freda, and members of the governing body are now reviewing architects' proposals which provide three or four variations of plans that would place every Borough employee in an adequate space.

The report found that morale and communication were prominent in needing most improvement in a majority of Borough departments. Morale remains a concern among Borough staff, and Mr. Freda feels that the work load continues to be a problem.

Realistic Expectations Of Staff Needed

"Overworked people are not going to be happy," he said. "Council has to be realistic about what is expected from staff. We are not always clear on rating priorities."

Dissatisfaction surfaced in July, 1989, when 24 Borough employees signed and released a petition demanding their 1989 raises, which were retroactive to January.

This came in the wake of a call in May, 1989, by Councilwoman Lucy Mackenzie for the replacement of Mark Gordon as Borough administrator. She stated that basic changes were needed to respond to the recommendations contained in the Peat Marwick report.

The report mentioned the possibility of hiring an assistant Borough administrator, and in August, 1989, Borugh Council agreed to go ahead with this. No one has yet been hired.

Mr. Gordon is handling the interviewing process, and he reported last week that about 100 people had applied for the job. From these he has developed a "short list," and will begin interviewing those on this list. He hopes to have the position filled by March.

Councilman Freda said that work on implementing the recommendations of the Peat Marwick report will continue, but cautioned that members of Council have a limited amount of time which must be spent on a variety of issues. Among these other issues he cited affordable housing and the drafting of an ordinance establishing a new E-3 zone.

The program, which is sponsored by the Princeton Recreation Department, will start January 20 and will run through April 14. The fee for Princeton residents is $20; for nonresidents who attend school in town, $40.

Registration forms are available at the Recreation Department office, 380 Witherspoon Street. Additional information can be obtained by calling 921-9480.

Jim Floyd to Be 'Roasted' At Fund-Raising Benefit

Jim Floyd, former Mayor of Princeton Township, will be the "roast of honor" at the Elizabeth Taylor Byrd Fund's fundraising benefit on Saturday, February 10.

In addition to his service as Mayor, Mr. Floyd has served as a member of the Mercer County Welfare Board, Citizens Advisory Committee on Housing and Citizens Advisory Committee to the Princeton Board of Education.

Jim Floyd

During his term as an officer on the Princeton Housing Group, two developments for open occupancy were built in the Princeton area; Mr. Floyd also initiated "The Summer in Engineering" program at Princeton University for black middle school youth and founded host family sponsors for black students attending Princeton University. He is presently a member of the board of directors of Princeton Community Housing, chairman of the Princeton Joint Commission on Aging, member of the board of directors of Princeton Area United Way and a member of the board of trustees of the Association for the Advancement of Mental Health.

His many honors include achievement awards from the New Jersey State Federation of Colored Women's Club, Inc., Trenton Alumni Chapter of Kappa Alpha PSI Fraternity and the Northeastern Province of Kappa Alpha PSI Fraternity. He received the Gerald Lambert 1986 Princeton Service Award and the Trenton Chapter NAACP Community Service Award. In 1987, he received the Father of the Year award from the Community Cultural Club of Trenton.

He retired as vice-president of the Exide Corporation and from Educational Testing Service.

The Elizabeth Taylor Byrd Fund is a nonprofit scholarship fund which has served the Princeton community since 1961. It was established to foster leadership qualities among the black youth of Princeton through education and vocational development.

Princeton Medical Center Offers Two New Classes

The Pathways Through Parenthood Program at The Princeton Medical Center has added two new classes, "Baby — Maybe?" and Accelerated Preparation for Childbirth.

"Baby — Maybe?" is designed for those contemplating pregnancy who want the healthiest possible start for their baby. Prospective parents will be provided with the most current information on pre-pregnancy related topics. The class will be held January 31 from 7 to 9:30 p.m. The cost is $15.

Accelerated Preparation for Childbirth classes are intended for parents with time constraints. Parents are still offered the opportunity to prepare for their child's arrival both physically and mentally, but additional responsibility is placed on parents in practicing relaxation and breathing techniques on their own time. Classes will be held February 3, 10 and 17 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m, and will cost $70.

To register for either class, for more information, or to obtain a brochure, call 497-4480.

TTG-NJ Playreading Planned at Arts Council

The Loft Theatre at the Arts Council of Princeton will provide the setting on Saturday, February 3, at 8 p.m. for a staged reading by The Theatre Guild of N.J. of the turn-of-the-century drama, Kiss of the Moth, by Mark St. Germain.

Kiss of the Moth is a story about three spiritualist sisters who share a terrible family secret — a secret too awful to speak about and one that many families face today.

This is the first in a series of play-readings planned by TTG-NJ to be presented at the Arts Council during its 1990 season. It is made possible in part by a grant from the Mercer County Cultural and Heritage Commission and the late Minerva Davenport.

Mark St. Germain is a member of the New Dramatists, The Dramatists Guild and the Writers Guild. His other works include Forgiving Typhoid Mary, Johnny Pye and the Foolkiller, Out of Gas on Lovers Leap and Gifts of the Magi. He has also written for MTM Productions, NBC/VON, Disney Productions and The Cosby Show.

The reading will be directed by Rip Pellaton of Princeton. The cast will consist of TTG-NJ company members.

The Arts Council of Princeton is located at 102 Witherspoon St. The Loft Theatre is on the second floor. A donation of $3 is requested. No reservation is necessary. For further information, call the TTG-NJ office at 586-1774 between 1 and 11 p.m.

The Theatre Guild of New Jersey is seeking new plays for its series, preferably comedies and light mysteries. It is not interested in anything political, violent or profane.

Send scripts to TTG-NJ, 27 Sutton Drive, Hamilton Square,

"Bell, Book and Candle" Set by Franklin Villagers

The Franklin Villagers Barn Theatre of Somerset will start the new year with Bell, Book and Candle, a romantic comedy by John van Druten. It will open Friday, January 19, and continue weekends through February 11.

The play is about Gillian, a young woman who happens to be a witch. Her meddlesome Aunt Queenie tries to conjure up a match for her with the handsome publisher who has just moved in upstairs, Shephard Henderson. The plan is complicated by interference from her playful brother, Nicky, and the sloppy investigation of Sidney Redlitch, a sensationalist author of books on witchcraft.

During its long Broadway run Bell, Book and Candle received rave reviews for its two stars, Lilli Palmer and Rex Harrison. The Villagers production will feature Linda Levine in the role of Gillian and Dennis Farrelly as Shephard. Dorothea Digrius will portray Aunt Queenie, Bob Grundfest is Sidney and Mark Murphy is Nicky. Mary McGinley, who directed Isn't It Romantic and Noises Off for the Villagers, will direct. Set designer is Doug Eaton, costume designer, Denise Scalingi, and lighting designer, Holly Sullivan.

Performances will be Fridays and Saturdays at 8:30, Sundays, January 21 and February 4, at 7:30, and Sundays, January 28 and February 11, at 2 p.m. Tickets are $11 on Fridays and Saturdays and $9 on Sundays.

Further information and reservations may be obtained by calling the Franklin Villagers Barn Theatre at (201) 873-2710, or writing to P.O. Box 6175, Somerset, 08875.

The Franklin Villagers Barn Theatre is located in the Franklin Township municipal complex at 475 DeMott Lane (between Amwell Road and Easton Avenue) in the Somerset section of Franklin Township. The theater is fully accessible to the handicapped and free parking is available on the site.

MUSIC

Stravinsky "L'Histoire" Is Readied by Symphony

The Chamber Symphony, under the baton of Music Director Mark Laycock, will celebrate its tenth season with a production of Igor Stravinsky's L'Histoire du Soldat, Sunday at 3 in Richardson Auditorium, Princeton University.

First performed in 1918, Histoire, a tale of temptation and fall, was inspired by Stravinsky's own Russian background. Cut off from Russia by the outbreak of World War I, the composer had retreated to Switzerland, where he collaborated with the Swiss author C.F. Ramuz to develop a theatrical piece designed for a small company of actors and musicians. As a "theatre piece," the work was conceived for actors, not singers, with an instrumental ensemble chosen to represent the treble and bass of each of the instrumental families. In his composition notes, Stravinsky also cited the need for a ballet component.

In the Chamber Symphony's production, the Shakespearean actress Irene Worth will present the narrative. In the course of her career, the American-born Miss Worth has established herself on both the New York and London stages as a preeminent classical actress.

The dance component for the production will be provided by Geulah Abrahams' "Danceworks." A resident of Princeton, Mrs. Abrahams first produced her version of L'Histoire in 1983, incorporating sets designed by Michael Graves. The Chamber Symphony production features guest artists Kathy Buccellato and Kenneth Topping of the Martha Graham Dance Company, and Jim Hutchings from the Princeton Ballet.

Also on the January 14 program is a performance of the seldom-heard Battalia by Heinrich Ignaz Franz Biber (1644-1704). Born in Bohemia, Biber worked as a musician in the court of the Archbishop of Salzburg for most of his adult life, becoming known as one of the outstanding violin virtuosi of his day, and composer of church music, operas and instrumental music. His Battalia, composed in 1673, is perhaps his only orchestral work familiar to today's audiences.

The Chamber Symphony will also perform Serenata Notturna in D Major, by Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart (1756-1791). Born in Salzburg, where Biber spent most of his career, Mozart wrote his early works under the influence of this lovely town. His Salzburg works tend to light-weight instrumental pieces. Written for two small orchestras, Serenata Notturna contrasts the sound of a solo string quartet (with bass, not 'cello) with a larger body of strings (without basses) plus timpani.

Tickets for the January 14 concert are $18 regular, $15 senior citizens and $10 for students. They are available from the Symphony office, 497-0020, or from the box office on the day of the concert.

String Preparatory Group To Play at Middle School

The String Preparatory Orchestra of the Greater Princeton Youth Orchestra, conducted by John Enz, will present its winter concert at 3 p.m., Sunday, January 28, at the John Witherspoon Middle School. Admission is free.

The program will feature seven young musicians as concertino soloists in Corelli's Concerto VIII, Op. 6, No. 8, Fatto per la notte di natale. It will also include Suite for Strings by Robert Washburn, and Divertimento I in D Major by Mozart. The 'cello section will perform A Sonata for Cellos by Halsey Stevens.

Folk Musician Scheduled For Princeton Concert

Folk musician Elaine Silver will perform Friday, January 19, at Christ Congregation Church at the corner of Houghton Road, across from Princeton High School. Her performance is one of the series of concerts sponsored by the Princeton Folk Music Society.

Ms. Silver is known for her vocal renditions of just about every variant of vocal folk music. In addition, she is skilled on the guitar, banjo, and Appalachian dulcimer. Her approach to performing stresses that both performer and audience should have a good time.

Admission to the concert is $7, with discounts for members and their guests and for senior citizens. There are no advance sales. Memberships will be available at the door.

The Association for the Advancement of Mental Health (AAMH) is accepting donations for the ninth annual Fantasy Auction, "Cruise the S.S. FantaSea," to be held Saturday evening, April 7, at the Hyatt Regency-Princeton.

Planned is a silent auction, as well as the fantasy auction, the latter known for items such as exotic trips and theater tickets.

The AAMH is looking for donations such as antiques, furniture, unique items, and professional services.

New this year are $35 tickets, which include the cocktail party and both silent and fantasy auctions. Tickets for the entire evening, including dinner and dancing after the auction, are available for $150 each.

For ticket information, or to donate items the fantasy auction, call Julia Erlichman at AAMH, 924-7174.

AAMH is a nonprofit community mental health agency which provides clinical, vocational and life skills services to mentally ill and developmentally disabled adults and adolescents in Mercer County. The funds raised by the fantasy auction are a substantial part of the funding for these services.

The Woman's Club of Princeton will meet Thursday, January 18, at All Saints' Church. Phil Bremen, anchor of New Jersey Network News and a Princeton resident, will speak on "Covering the News for T.V."

June Winters will be hostess for the occasion, assisted by Evelyn Bettis, Pat Tinsley, Lillian Truesdell, Marie Twyman, Jerene Vanderberg, Doris Williams, Josephine Werth, Jo Westerfeld, Helen White, Tricia White, Violet Wilkinson, Ann Wilson and Carol Witchey. Kay Ness is in charge of decorations.

Kako Kowashi will present a demonstration of the art of Japanese leather flower making at the West Windsor Library on Thursday from noon to 3.

The public is invited to this program which is co-sponsored by the International Club and the library. There is no charge. Persons are asked to bring a lunch to the meeting.

"Peace and Perestroika" will be the subject of a presentation at 55 Plus by Dr. Robert A. Feldmesser on Thursday, January 18, at the Jewish Center. The meeting will start at 10 a.m.

Dr. Feldmesser specialized in the social structure of the Soviet Union and the sociology of education. He served for several years as a research fellow at Harvard's Russian Research Center, and taught sociology at Harvard, Brandeis and Dartmouth universities. Since 1983 he has been a freelance manuscript editor, specializing in social science manuscripts, particularly those dealing with Soviet and Russian materials, for university presses.

All area men are invited.

Buyers in Palmer Square Weren't Told Whole Truth

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Following is a copy of a letter I have sent to Mayor Barbara Sigmund and Borough Council.

It sounds as if Collins Development Co. is trying to put something over on the people of Princeton. In the December 13th issue of TOWN TOPICS there is an article stating that instead of a cash contribution to the Borough for the affordable housing program, Collins will turn over six units in Palmer Square West. Now, hold on ... the people who read the prospectus, paid top dollar for the apartments in Palmer Square West, are now being told that some units will be turned into affordable housing. I am not against affordable housing, but is this fair to these people who in good faith purchased these units?

Evidently Collins has not been able to move all of the vacant units and this is one way to get rid of them and still live up to their promise of affordable housing. It sounds as if the people in the Square are caught in the middle.

I ask you to please consider carefully the way this is being handled and protect the people who purchased these units in good faith. I think Borough Council acted a little hastily before considering and speaking with the people who purchased the Palmer Square West units.

More Details Needed On School Bond Issue

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The taxpayers of Princeton should have a detailed explanation of the school bond issue for which they will be voting in February. Of the total $8.45 million, $6.7 million is for adding 12 rooms to Johnson Park School. This amounts to more than a half a million dollars per room.

Even at today's prices, one could build a very fine house for the price of one of these rooms. An additional million will go towards furnishing these rooms and $800,000 towards capital improvements to other school buildings.

This bond issue would have a better chance of passage if an itemization of professional fees, site work, construction costs, furnishings, etc. were published so that the voters could understand why the bond issue is so high.

Cancer Patient Responds To Sigmund's Editorial

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Following is an open letter I have written to Barbara Boggs Sigmund.

As a person who has had both cancer and become familiar with the body of "self-help" literature to which you referred in your December 30 New York Times op-ed article, I understand how easy it is to misperceive and misconstrue the facts this literature presents.

The fact that there are techniques by which those of us with cancer can help ourselves doesn't ever mean that we believe we brought cancer upon ourselves to begin with, any more than we bring ourselves a host of other diseases, conditions or natural disasters ranging from alcoholism to tornadoes.

Indeed, there are a great many things people with cancer can do to change the quality of their lives — even those of us who, like me and you, thought our lives were pretty terrific to begin with. Sometimes, in the process, the course of our cancer may also be changed.

Certainly I have never believed I gave myself cancer, nor do I believe I cured it. In retrospect, I acknowledge that cancer was a gift in my life, because in working through it, I achieved a sense of deep inner peace which lends my life an entirely new and profound dimension. This process is what the "self-help" literature refers to as healing. To some extent, when we are ill, we have fallen apart, and healing involves putting ourselves back together and becoming whole again.

Like you, a fellow alumna of the Convent of the Sacred Heart, I too rely on deep immune system-enhancing techniques. And I believe it is critical to dispel the myth that by helping myself, I am accepting responsibility for my disease.

After all, God helps those who help themselves.

Honored Three Omitted From Printed Remarks

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Through my own "errors in transmission" of the text of my New Year's Day speech, rather than through any fault either of TOWN TOPICS or of the Borough Hall staff, three names were omitted from the published text of the speech.

I gave Mayor's Certificates of Appreciation to Tom Cawley and to Henry Patterson III for their yeoman work in peaceably settling the "water wars" in Princeton, and for their rapid response in resolving the water company's determination to improve the Princeton water delivery system following the water crisis during the summer of 1988.

Also, Wayne Carr, our own Borough superintendent of streets, received a certificate for the love and attention he showered on all of us through the glorious decorations he devised for Borough Hall during the holiday season.

Congratulations Extended To Trenton Official

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The Mercer County Women's

Doesn't Anybody Want My Trash?

Far be it from me to be whiny,
But on January 1, 1990,
My trashman (trashperson?) is taking leave,
Saying he no longer will relieve
Me of the things he once collected,
Which makes me feel neglected,
For 20 years I've wondered why,
Some get town service, some fungi
City fathers concede barefaced,
They don't hanker for my waste,
'Less on my street I can find likeable
Twenty-four neighbors with junk unrecyclable,
Which strikes me just a hair ridiculous
To mandate they must be contiguous,
Though of this town I proudly sing,
Try getting five "yeses" on anything,
So fix our pipes and mend our roads,
Open our bridges and cut their loads,
But first give us service and make it fast,
Please haul away our Christmas (and Hanukkah) past,
Dispatch garbage trucks to every place,
Regardless of street, house color or race,
Make pick-up available township-wide,
My yellow can's full — and been disqualified.

Congratulations Extended To Trenton, Official

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The Mercer County Women's Political Caucus would like to congratulate those women who ran for public office this past November. We would also like to extend our congratulations to Jenneye Stubblefield, who was recently elected by her colleagues to the position of Council President for the City of Trenton. She is not only the first woman to be elected President of the Trenton City Council, but is also the first black individual to serve in this position.

These women are pioneers in their communities and role models for other women aspiring to serve in public office. Members of the Mercer County Women's Political Caucus extend to them our best wishes and our promise to continue working to increase women's participation in the political arena, so that they will be joined by more (women) in 1990.

Judge's Appointment In Township Is Backed

To the Editor, Town Topics:

Princeton Township Committee deserves credit for the long-range planning towards One Community, as manifested in the appointment of a municipal court judge who will serve that One Community.

Newly elected Committeeman Woodbridge struck an unfortunate note in suggesting political motivation, as well as unwarranted and untimely partisanship on his own part in response to Mayor Litvack's speech welcoming his "expertise" to Township government.

I believe we all hope that this new decade will bring positive thinking to Princeton's problems, rather than confrontational government.

ART

Works of Three Artists On View in Rocky Hill

"Extraordinary Visions," works in a variety of media by artists Justin McCarthy (1891-1977), Jack Blumenthal (1915-1987), and Liz Whitney Quisgard, will be on exhibit at the Magenta Art Gallery (formerly Art by Design), 131 Washington Street, Rocky Hill. The show will open with a reception on January 21 from 2 to 5 p.m. and will continue through February 17.

The vibrant images of naive artist Justin McCarthy are characterized by a myriad of media, subject matter, and visual commentaries. His drawings and paintings cover such topics as film stars, sports, animals, and social and historical events. His work has been exhibited in the Museum of Modern Art, the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Museum of American Folk Art, and the Noyes and the Allentown museums.

Jack Blumenthal improvised on themes of classic and modern masters as well as scriots that tumbled from his own psyche. A veterinarian, he was nearly 40 when he began to draw. His work is represented in private collections, primarily in the Princeton and Taos, N.M., areas.

Liz Whitney Quisgard is a contrast to her co-exhibitors in that her paintings and sculptures are executed with premeditation and cerebral intent. She transmutes deliberate purpose into a burst of kaleidoscopic patterns, refracting prisms and gradations of light. Ms. Quisbard has had more than 30 solo exhibitions, including one-person shows at the Andre Emmerich Gallery and Fordham University in New York City.

Gallery hours are 10 to 5 daily, except Sunday.

Talk, "My Life in Art," Set Sunday at Artworks

Princeton sculptor Jane Teller will give a slide presentation, "My Life in Art: Where I Have Been and Where I Am," Sunday at 4:30 at Artworks/Princeton, 45 Stockton Street.

She will discuss her travels to England, Malta and Spain; her concerns as an artist; and the ways in which she has incorporated into her work her experiences in traveling.

The talk is free and open to the public. Snow date is Sunday, January 21.

Art Auction Is Planned By Jewish Center Here

On Saturday the Jewish Center will hold an art auction in the social hall. The auction will be conducted by Ross Galleries, Inc., of New York, and will feature affordable art works from its collection as well as art works from selected area artists.

The evening will begin at 7 with a preview which will be accompanied by champagne, hors d'oeuvre and a string quartet. The auction will start at 8.

Admission is $25 per person and a door prize will be given away. Tickets will be sold at the door.

For further information, call the Jewish Center at 921-0100.

Exhibits

A photography exhibit, Bill Ambry's "Landscapes of North America," will open on Saturday from 1 to 3 at the Buttinger Environmental Awareness Center of the Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association.

The exhibit is taken from Mr. Ambry's extensive photographic trips throughout the country. Included are spectacular views from such places as Mono Lake, Redwood National Park, the Great Smokies, and Acadia National Park. The show will run through February 17. Gallery hours are Wednesday through Saturday, 10 to 5. For more information, call the Watershed Association, 737-7592.

Victor over Penn, Tiger Quintet Heads for Yale and Brown With Chance to Take Major Step toward Another Ivy Title

The Ivy League's basketball season is just two games old, but already the shape of things to come seems clear.

A 56-44 winner over Penn last Saturday in Jadwin, the Princeton basketball team will play Yale this Friday evening in New Haven. At this point, the Elis appear to be the only team in the league capable of challenging the Tigers for the title. If they can't beat the Orange and Black at home, Pete Carril's club could wrap this thing up by Valentine's Day.

Brown will be the opponent the next night in Providence (both 7:30 starts). A victory against the 3-8 Bruins would send Princeton into the exam break at 3-0.

After exams, the Tigers will play three more road games against Columbia, Cornell and Penn, before their next Ivy home game on February 9. Carril frets about that kind of schedule and, in his true pessimistic nature, about his team's chances in general.

SPORTS

"It's difficult enough," he says, "to win conference games, where everybody knows you so well, knows everything you do and how to defense it, but then you have all these away games. It won't be easy."

History certainly supports Carril's thoughts. Favored Princeton teams have been victims of some mind-boggling upsets, not only on the road, but also in Jadwin in recent years. The other Ivy coaches are well aware of what Princeton does.

14-0 Is a Long Shot

Thus, it seems unlikely the Tigers will sail through the season undefeated, a feat last accomplished in the league by the 1976 Tigers. However, it appears just as unlikely that they will lose more than a couple of games at most, and that any other team could match that record.

Yale appears to be the only team with any shot at catching the Tigers. No better than 11-17 a year ago (6-8 in the league), the Bulldogs have most of their personnel back. This includes sophomore Ed Peterson, the Ivy rookie of the year in 1989, who averaged 16.4 points a game, and juniors Dean Campbell and Travis McCready. They also averaged in double figures last winter

At 7-3, the Elis are the only other Ivy team besides Princeton with a current winning record, and a look at that shouldn't impress anyone. They've beaten the likes of Swarthmore, Wagner, Florida International, Central Florida, Brooklyn College and Fairfield. They've come up short against the better teams like Connecticut and Lafayette.

The other six teams could pool their talent, and still not beat Princeton. Dartmouth, with seven-foot center Walter Palmer and guard James Blackwell back, looked better on pre-season paper than it has in action. After squeaking by Harvard at Cambridge Saturday, the Big Green is an unimpressive 4-5. The Crimson, Penn, Columbia, Brown and Cornell should finish behind these three.

Penn Not Up to Par

The usual big crowd (4,736) turned out for the Penn contest Saturday night, but the drama was missing this year. The 2-7 Quakers were no match for the home team.

Both teams started slowly and with just a little over four minutes left in the half, the Tigers led by just one, 13-12. Then, the Tigers began to find their three-point range. With Sean Jackson leading the way, Old Nassau scored the next 12 points, and led 25-12 at the intermission. Game, set and match.

Penn's defensive strategy, using two to three players, centered on keeping Kit Mueller from scoring from the inside, and it was certainly successful. The junior center was held to no field goals and just two points.

However, Mueller did pick up nine assists, feeding the ball to his wide-open teammates, who hit a phenomenal 10 of 12 three-point attempts. Jackson led the way with pinpoint accuracy, sinking seven of eight from behind the stripe, and finished with 24 points. Overall the Tigers sank 17 of 26 shots: 65 percent.

Remember, the guy had been playing with three fingers on his shooting hand taped together as his broken finger healed. Saturday night, the doctor gave the okay to tape only two. Imagine what he'll do when the tape comes off completely.

Jerry Doyle, who has filled in admirably for George Leftwich, added nine points. Leftwich, by the way, started working out this week, and is expected to be ready Friday night. His return will give Carril the most versatile seven-man line-up he has had in years.

Here's an unbelievable football fact ... When the Chicago Bears beat the Washington Redskins 73-0 in the championship game of the National Football League in 1940, the Redskins actually made more first downs that day than the Bears, 18 to 17 — despite being outscored 73-0 ... Unbelievable, but true.

Here's a question with a surprising answer ... Who had the most hits in major league baseball in the 1980s? ... You'd think it would be somebody like Wade Boggs who won the batting title five times in the '80s, or Tony Gwynn who won it four times ... But, surprisingly, it was a player who NEVER won the batting title, Robin Yount ... But Yount had 1,731 hits in the 1980s — to lead all big league players.

Has there ever been a basketball game in which NO fouls were called? ... It happened in a game in 1972 in Maryland between Rockville and Paint Branch high schools ... stands wonder how they could have pulled off the feat.

Obviously, the Tigers were caught napping a year ago, and this time around they exacted a strong measure of revenge. Pulling away from the visitors from the opening tip-off, the Orange and Black leapt out to a 23-8 lead. They let the visitors close to six, 31-25 at the half, but then quickly put the contest away in the early part of the second. With his team leading by 22, Carril cleared his bench.

As has been the case this season, the scoring was nicely balanced. Doyle led with 13 points on five-of-seven shooting, Mueller had 12, Jackson, 11, and a host of others, six. Three-point accuracy decided the game as much as anything, Princeton hit almost 50 percent, 11 of 23; Delaware canned just one of 10.

Overall, the Blue Hens sank just 13 of 39 shots, and were guilty of 18 turnovers. The one edge the visitors enjoyed was in rebounding; they beat Princeton on the boards, 31-17.

Not surprisingly this deficiency on Princeton's part did not escape Carril's scrutiny. "If we don't start rebounding soon," he predicted, "it will be our Waterloo."

Tiger Sextet on the Road After Split in Baker Rink

In the space of just 24 hours last weekend, the Princeton hockey team sent its faithful on a emotional roller coaster that left even the most cynical and hardened fan in a state of disbelief, and wondering what would come next.

A vintage two-day performance by the Tiger sextet put their followers into orbit Friday night with a superlative, 6-1 triumph over Yale, only to bring them crashing to earth on Saturday after a 4-2 loss to Brown. It was an astonishing, and yet in light of past history, totally predictable turn of events. Those who had dared hope this team would somehow be immune to the problems of the past were wrong.

No one knew it at the time, but two events on separate rinks late in each game helped bring about Saturday's debacle against the Bruins. With time running out in the third period, Princeton had wrapped up its victory over the Elis, when Mark Khozozian was sent crashing into the boards. He suffered a sprained knee, did not suit up Saturday, and likely will not be back until after exams. His absence hurt Princeton's attack Friday night, particularly on the power play.

Meanwhile, about the same time at West Point, Brown was rallying from a 2-0 deficit against Army. Scoring three times in the final six minutes, the Bruins won the game, and came into Baker Rink full of confidence. Again they fell behind, 2-0, but having been there before, they never gave up. They soon took the play away from Princeton with four unanswered goals.

The defeat cost Princeton a chance to move into undisputed possession of first place in the ECAC standings at the end of the first half of the season. The Tigers will start their second swing through the 11 opponents tied for second with Clarkson, Harvard and St. Lawrence.

The trip immediately ahead of them this Friday and Saturday is no treat. Traveling to upper New York State, the Orange and Black must meet league-leading Colgate on Friday and Cornell in tough Laynah Rink Saturday. The Raiders, at 7-1, are making a bid to run away with the league title.

NO LUCK WITH THIS PUCK: The puck bounced the wrong way for Princeton Saturday night as the Tigers lost to Brown, 4-2. Here center Terry Morris battles a Bruin player for possession. (W. L. Bill Allen Jr. photo)

The Big Red, which blew away Vermont and RPI last weekend, looks to be recovered from early season problems. Old Nassau knocked off the Ithacans at the start of the season, but will be hard pressed to do it again. A victory over Colgate seems even less likely, but the team must aim for at least a split.

Following that trip, coach Jim Higgins' skaters must get back in the bus Tuesday for a game at West Point. This will be another difficult assignment. Brown and Yale both defeated the Cadets last weekend, but Princeton can take nothing for granted. Its playoff chances are still solid, but finishing in the top four and gaining home-ice advantage seems more remote now.

Yale No Match for Tigers

Friday night's victory over Yale was achieved with 60 minutes of all-out effort by Princeton. The Tigers gave a clinic on how the game should be played, winning their fourth consecutive ECAC game for the first time ever. Chief instructors were Andre Faust, who recorded a goal and four assists, and Bart Blaeser, two goals and one assist.

Yale looked every bit like a team that had not played since December 9, and managed to make a game of it for just one period. Khozozian's goal gave Princeton a 1-0 lead at the end of the first 20 minutes, and the Orange and Black broke it open in the second, scoring four times. The Elis not only were blanked, they didn't get off a shot on net.

Blaeser, Faust and Kevin Sullivan tallied in the second, and Greg Polaski and Blaeser finished off the scoring in the third. Ron High, who made 28 saves, lost his bid for a shutout midway through the third when a defensive lapse let the Elis in on High alone. That goal was the first Yale shot on goal since the first period when it had 18.

Fade-Out Against Brown

Princeton did manage to carry over some of that momentum into Saturday night's game against Brown. Jim Sourges' first goal of the season at 13:15 put the Tigers ahead 1-0. And when Blaeser made it 2-0 less than two minutes later, on a slap shot from the center zone (High was credited with the first assist), the Orange and Black looked to be in command.

That wasn't the case at all. Brown cut the lead in half a little over a minute later, and gradually took the action away from the Tigers. Scoring twice in the second period to take the lead, the Bruins got stronger and quicker, while the Tigers couldn't seem to capitalize on rebounds in front of the net. When they did, goalie Chris Harvey made up for his first-period error, and stonewalled the Tigers. He had 27 saves; High registered 24.

The visitors drew even at 3:27 of the second, and took the lead at 15:18. In the third, Princeton swarmed all around the Bruins' goal, often ineffectually, and could not produce the tying marker. The crusher came with six minutes left, when Brown made it 4-2 on a 20-foot slap shot.

The biggest difference between the two games for the Tigers was the power play. They had seven opportunities each night, capitalized on three against Yale, and none against Brown.

"I think it means a lot to be without Mark," commented Higgins. "Khozozian is a winner and we missed him an awful lot. He's such a big cog in our power play."

Khozozian will be back in February, and Princeton will have the chance to prove this team is better than all those that have come before it. The highest ECAC finish ever is still well within reach.

Tiger Women Victors, 7-2 Over Brown in Hockey

The Princeton women's hockey team won its first game of the new year, and climbed to 2-0 in the Ivy League with a 7-2 triumph over Brown at Providence last Saturday.

Leading just 1-0 after one period, coach Bob Ewell's skaters erupted for four goals in the second to take a 5-2 lead. They added two more in the third stanza. Shari Wolken led the way with four goals and one assist, while Mollie Marcoux and Sue Finney got the others.

Kari Rosenkranz registered 20 saves for the Tigers, who outshot the Bruins 39 to 22. The Orange and Black will face league-leading (5-1) Cornell at Ithaca this Friday, and RIT in Rochester the following day.

The women's basketball team is now 7-4, after a 57-47 triumph over Lafayette in Jadwin Saturday night. Earlier last week, the Tigers lost to Lehigh.

The Orange and Black is trying to prepare itself for the Ivy race which was scheduled to begin this past Tuesday against Penn, and continue this Friday and Saturday against Yale and Brown at home. Although it won the game, there is plenty of room for improvement.

Sixteen turnovers in the first half and a few misses on easy layups allowed Lafayette to stay close. It trailed by six, 28-22 at the half.

There was no real danger of losing, because Sandi Bittler kept sinking three-point shots, seven in all, to pace Princeton. She finished with 22 points. Coach Joan Kowalik was just as pleased with the performance of other players, including Katrina Dowidchuk on defense, Hillary Malcarney and Tracy Starck.

PHS Hockey: How Good? Answer Comes This Week

With wins last week over Steinert and Nottingham, and with Monday night's game with West Windsor postponed because of the weather, the Princeton High ice hockey team is off to its best start ever in its young career. The Little Tigers have yet to lose this winter, having posted four wins and a tie in their first five games.

How good are the Little Tigers? "I think we are doing a good job. We're playing up to our potential," said PHS coach Howard Rubenstein this week. "We haven't had any bad breaks; everything seems to be going our way.

"But we play Notre Dame and Hightstown next. Then we'll see how good we are."

PHS will meet 4-3 Notre Dame on Thursday at 5:15 and 5-2 Hightstown, the defending CVC champions, next Wednesday, the 17th, at 3:40, both contests at Mercer Rink.

Notre Dame is led by the area's scoring phenom John Deemers who leads all scorers by a wide margin, with 203 career points on 143 goals and 60 assists. In a 9-5 victory over West Windsor last week, Deemers scored seven goals, prompting WW coach Dan Hussong to remark: "He is so hard to stop; he is in a different league than anyone else."

However, on Monday, Lawrence showed that Deemers can be contained. The Cardinals' tight checking kept Deemers from scoring, as they posted a 3-1 victory over the Irish.

Rubenstein said that he had been too preoccupied preparing for West Windsor to have time to think about containing Deemers. "We'll try to come up with a game plan in the next couple of days," he said. "We'll try to hit him when he's out there; we'll try to get physical with him."

Hightstown, one of the leading scoring teams in the CVC, played a steady defensive game in stopping winless Nottingham, 5-1, in its last outing on Monday.

In its games last week, PHS defeated Steinert, 4-1, Thursday and ran up its biggest score of the season in routing Nottingham, 10-3, as four skaters scored two goals apiece for the Little Tigers.

Against Steinert, PHS outshot the Spartans by a 2-to-1 margin (35 to 17) but was forced to wait until the second period before it scored against the defense-minded losers.

The back-checking Spartans kept the slow-starting Little Tigers off stride until Mike Precheur stick-handled his way past two defenders in the second period and lifted a shot over the shoulder of Spartan goalie, Larry Penardi It was his sixth goal of the season — tops among the Little Tigers.

With nine seconds left in the same period, PHS increased its lead to 2-0 when Tim Dalton pushed in a loose puck during a scramble in front of the net for his first goal of the season. Two more goals in less than 30 seconds, by Karsten Hilpert and Phil Garza early in the third period, iced the outcome for the victors.

"Our defense was outstanding. It didn't give up many shots," said Rubenstein, who also cited the play of goalie Eric (17 saves) Stiff.

Right Side of Score

Winless Nottingham was no match for the fired-up Princeton skaters earlier in the week. PHS blasted three goals in the first period and added six more in the second, spraying 52 shots on goal. "This is the first time we've been on the right side of a big score," said Rubenstein.

Everyone was in a scoring mood, as the PHS defense accounted for half of the ten goals. Russ Levine had two ("the opportunity was there so I took advantage of it"), Jim Healey had two, his first of the season, and Tad Kinchla had one. On offense, Precheur and Jared Bilanin each scored twice, and sophomore Josh Novak added his first goal of the campaign.

Angus Guberman was in goal for PHS for the game and had 17 saves. The Northstars' busy freshman goalie, Chris Green, had 35 saves before giving way to sophomore Scott Lang, who recorded seven more. Nottingham scored a single goal in each period in dropping its third straight.

Winning Formula Sought By Little Tigers' Snyder

Ten games into a 22-game season, Princeton High basketball coach Doug Snyder admits that he is still searching for the right combination — one that he hopes will prove to be a winning combination.

Following back-to-back losses to Burlington Township and Nottingham during the weekend, and another setback to Hamilton earlier in the week, the Little Tigers are struggling with a 2-8 mark.

The losses to Nottingham and Hamilton (by a total of 15 points) were both Valley Division setbacks in the Colonial Valley Conference of which PHS is a member. Both league losses came in games that Snyder felt the Little Tigers had a good chance to win.

Starting with a scheduled contest with Steinert earlier in the week, PHS will be at West Windsor Friday for a 7 p.m. contest and will host Notre Dame Tuesday afternoon at 3:45.

'Play Ball!' to Sound for Post 218 Legion Team

A new team has been added to the Mercer County American Legion League roster — Princeton Post 218.

Maybe one can't fight City Hall but Post 218 Commander Rick Skipworth, team manager Tom Parker, Jim Healey and Walter Bliss, the leaders behind the fight to get the Lytle Street Post admitted to the league in the 1990 season, discovered that you can fight league officials — if you fight hard enough.

During a meeting last Wednesday at Hamilton Post 31, the league managers and executive committee formally voted Post 218 into the league. Last October, the same managers had voted 9-0 to bar Post 218's entrance. Commander Skipworth was stunned — and angry. At no time during previous meetings with league officials, he reported, was there any indication there would be a problem joining the other ten teams in the league.

Skipworth chose to fight. "When they throw the first ball out we plan to be part of the 1990 season," he vowed. Armed with the certainty that Post 218 had the players, the diamond, a manager and met all the qualifications, Commander Skipworth wrote the State's American Legion baseball director, Bill Adelhelm, and the national director in Indianapolis. He sought help from any public official he could. He went public with articles to the newspapers.

Last week, the outcome came as no surprise after Adelhelm informed John Shanders, Chairman of the Mercer County American Legion League, and League Commissioner Warren Lewis that they could nnt legally deprive Post 218 from participation in the league. If they continued to bar Post 218, he warned, the State wnuld not certify Mercer County teams to compete in the annual State tournament.

"This is what we wanted all along," beamed Commander Skipworth, following the ruling. "Now that we're in the league we have to prove that we helong."

The past few years the ten teams played a 27-game schedule in six weeks, a tight schedule. This year, under an 11-team format, the league managers will vote on a 20-, 24-, 27- or 30-game schedule when they meet in Atlantic City February 4 for their annual meeting.

The new Post 218 squad will draw its players primarily from Princeton High School and its sending district Cranbury. Commander Skipworth acknowledged that the first team will probably have a lot of 16-year-olds on its roster and that it will lose most of its games. "I'd like to win one or two the first year," he said.

But from the beginning Commander Skipworth, in his fight to field a team here, knew what was most important was not how many games were won or lost, but providing players a chance to play. In that respect he and Post 218 are already winners.

It will follow those games with contests against Hightstown, Trenton and Ewing. All six teams comprise the larger, Colonial Division of the CVC. As a result, the challenge facing the Little Tigers and Snyder is enormous.

Since he has only nine players on his varsity, Snyder's options are limited as he searches for that right combination. His leading scorer, Anthony White (14.2 average in nine games), has been inconsistent in his play. The entire team has been unable to put together four solid quarters of basketball.

Lacking any height, the Little Tigers are losers in the battle of the boards. They don't get that second or third shot. The streaks and rallies that can turn a game around are almost impossible to mount. The offense has averaged just 48 points a game so far, while the defense has allowed 58 a game.

Basket for Basket

Against Burlington Saturday, the visiting Little Tigers matched the Falcons basket for basket in the first half, as White, playing what Snyder said was his best game of the season, pumped in 12 first-half points. PHS trailed by two at intermission.

In the third period, Burlington reeled off eight consecutive points to pull away, and held on for a 53-46 triumph, its fifth in eight starts. In the period, the Falcons' Marcus Andrews connected for eight of his 21 points to tie White for game-high honors.

"We didn't get too many second and third chances at the basket because we're so small," observed Snyder, who, nonetheless, was pleased with the performance of his club. "I was impressed with Anthony White today."

In addition to White's 21 points, PHS received eight from Brian Williams and six each from Toran Conover and Khalil Abdul-Karim. Conover is the second-leading scorer on the team, with a 11.5 ppg average, and Williams is third with an 8.1 average.

In absorbing a 58-50 loss to Nottingham the previous day, the key elements for PHS were the erratic play of White and a lopsided, 33-15 rebounding margin by the Northstars. The win was the first CVC victory for Nottingham in almost two years, since February 25, 1987.

"We did a real nice job on the boards. That was the difference in the game," summed up Nottingham coach Pete Leonard.

PHS stayed with Nottingham in the first half but, once again, the Little Tigers stumbled in the third period when the home team Northstars outscored them, 17-6. "We can't score quickly or in bunches," said Snyder. Nevertheless, his team still managed to give Leonard a momentary scare when it tallied 21 points in the final period.

The unpredictable White had on his erratic hat for the game. His razzle-dazzle dribbling misfired against Northstar guard Ryan Lopez, who swiped the ball from him on several occasions as White dribbled the ball back and forth between his legs.

"I just won't stand for that," said Snyder, who benched White in the first period and did not bring him back until the end of the third. White finished with a season-low four points.

"He helps us when he is able to get penetration with his dribbling and hits his shots, but today he was out of control," said Snyder.

With White on the bench, PHS spread the scoring around. Ali Ashraf came off the bench and responded with his best game of the season, netting a season-high 10 points. Conover also had ten points and Abdul-Karim and Williams combined for 17 more for the Little Tigers. Lopez was high for the victors with 17.

Big Hole Early

When PHS was outscored 19-6 in the second period against Hamilton earlier in the week, it proved to be too big a hole to climb out of and the Hornets went on to bag a 52-45 win and end a four-game losing string.

White connected for all six of Princeton's points in the period and ended with a game-high 25 — his high for the season. Only four other players scored for PHS: Williams had 10, Conover six, and Ben Stentz and Abdul-Karim two each.

Assistant coach Randy Morrison directed the Little Tigers in the absence of Snyder, who was out with the flu.

"We have to come out aggressively right from the start," commented Morrison on Princeton's sluggish first-half play. "We can't wait a half before we believe we can play with other teams."

PHS Swimmers ThisClose To Upsetting the Pirates

The Princeton High girls' swimming team set two new school records, but the goal they wanted — ending West Windsor's winning streak — eluded them by the scant margin of a few strokes.

There was drama aplenty in the Trenton State College pool last week. West Windsor entered the pool unbeaten in Colonial Valley Conference competition since 1985. Most of the superstars of past Pirate teams had graduated, however, while Princeton was a team on the rise.

The Little Tigers clearly had the individual standouts. They captured firsts in every event but the diving, which the Pirates swept, and the backstroke, but, amazingly, West Windsor still managed to eke out an 87-85 triumph on the basis of its superior depth. The outcome hung on the final event — the 400 free relay.

Needing to finish first and second to win, PHS coach Janet Jelliffe was forced to split her relay team into two less powerful squads. PHS got the first place it needed when Rachel Medina, Danielle Devereux and two freshmen, Robin Meray and Christine Jensen, were clocked in a winning time of 4:03.42, but West Windsor grabbed second place with 4:06.62 to preserve its league win streak.

Although the PHS boys' squad also set two new PHS records, they were still overwhelmed by the 4-1 Pirates, 121-47. As a measure of West Windsor's strength, in both events where the Little Tigers established new school records, they still finished second.

Dixon. Devereux. Jensen.

PHS sophomore Ashley Dixon, senior veteran Devereux and freshman standout Christine Jensen each captured two events.

Dixon set a new PHS record of 2:17.87 in winning the 200 IM, breaking her own record of 2:18.16 set last year. She also won the 100 fly in 1:03.82, but in both events West Windsor captured second and third places.

Devereux touched in 5:28.11 in the 500 free to win that event and set a new PHS record, shaving 72 hundredths of a second off the previous school mark which she set last year. Again, WW took second and third.

Devereux also won the 100 free in 58.96 where freshman teammate Kate Howe was second in 1:00.20. Jensen, who seems destined to establish a string of PHS records — and CVC standards, too, before she graduates — won the 200 free and 100 back events in 2:01.78 and 1:04.78.

Howe flashed to a first-place finish in the 50 free in 26.82 and Dixon, Nicole Young, Rebecca Dixon and Meray combined to win the 200 medley relay in 2:05.38. West Windsor continued its pattern of finishing second and third in the event to pile up points.

The loss was the closest PHS had come to defeating the four-time CVC defending champions since a 95-77 loss three years ago to the Pirates. West Windsor had suffered two losses earlier in the season to a pair of large-school Pennsylvania teams, Council Rock and Pennsbury.

Boys Set Two Records

While the PHS boys' team was outclassed by the once-beaten West Windsor boys' team, they still managed to establish two new school records. WW swept to victory in every event.

Freshman Gordon Fraser was timed in 2:09.69 in the 200 IM to better, by a wide margin of more than ten seconds, the previous PHS mark of 2:25.2 set in 1988 by Dana Hutchins. West Windsor's Matt Leimkuhler won the event in 2:05.85.

Another freshman, Landon Jones, shaved four seconds off the previous PHS standard of 5:26.9 for the 500 free set by Vic Browning in 1987 when he won that grueling event in 5:22.56. The event's winner, however, was West Windsor's Kevin Appleget who swam a 5:10.45.

Also capturing seconds for PHS were David Schivell in the 200 free (1:59.58) and Scott Petrone in the 100 back (1:06.26). Petrone also claimed a third in the 100 fly. Appleget and Leimkuhler were double winners for the victors, who swept the diving and 50 free events.

PHS was scheduled to flex its muscles against Notre Dame this Wednesday at 6:30 and on Saturday at 1 against Lawrence. Both meets will be held at Princeton's home pool on the Trenton State College campus.

PHS Matmen No Threat; Lose 54-20 to W. Windsor

After an easy opening win over Hopewell Valley, which is still in the throes of trying to rebuild its wrestling program, Princeton High wrestling coach Matt Wilkinson predicted the matches would get a lot tougher. They did.

Last week, West Windsor built a commanding, early 30-3 lead over the visiting Little Tigers en route to a 54-20 win. PHS started with an 18-0 deficit when it forfeited the 103-, 135- and 189-pound matches.

Ahead is a match this Wednesday evening (jayvee matches start at 6:30) against visiting Notre Dame and a Saturday match at 1 here against Lawrence. In a match last week, ND defeated Lawrence, 40-18.

There wasn't too much that Wilkinson, who juggled his lineup considerably, could point to in the West Windsor loss.

After PHS junior Vincent Franze won an 8-5 decision over Doak Walker in their 112-pound match — the only decision of the evening — things went quickly downhill for the Little Tigers.

In the succeeding five matches, Jason Kirby was pinned in 3:23, Alex Weinberg in .33 and Matt Pickens in 5:38. Following a forfeit, Adam Basatemur was pinned in 3:28 by West Windsor's Brian Lyszczarz in 3:28. Lyszczarz, a junior transfer who posted a 15-8 record last year for Edison High, was leading 13-0 when he gained his fall.

PHS took three of the final six bouts. PHS tri-captain Lawrence Mansier stopped the WW tide when he pinned Mike Opalski with one second remaining in the opening period in their 145-pound match.

At 171 pounds, PHS newcomer Guy Romain, who, Wilkinson says, is the strongest member on the Little Tiger team, was trailing Marc Vargin, 11-6, when he scored a dramatic fall 33 seconds into the final period. It was Romain's second pin for the 1-1 Little Tigers.

In the heavyweight division, Princeton's 240-pound Will Dickerson gained an 18-3 technical fall over Doug Parsons.

Princeton's two other pin victims were Matt Curran in 1:25 at 160 pounds and Jim Brophy in 3:11 at 152 pounds. West Windsor raised its record to 2-1 with the win.

PDS Boys' Quintet Rips St. Joseph's for 4th Win

The good news for the Princeton Day basketball team is, not only did it blow out St. Joseph's for its fourth win of the year last week, but it also will get to do it again next month.

The Panthers have two games with the Seminary boys on their schedule, and after a 65-25 victory on the road, the sky may be the limit on the score when the two meet again February 7. After a long, 20-day layoff for the holidays, and losses in their two previous games, 0-6 St. Joe's was the perfect team to face.

"A win is a win as far as I'm concerned," commented Maura Kelly, answering the obvious question after the one-sided affair. "We're just getting back into the game. I wanted to walk away from here winning. Regardless of the competition, anybody can beat you." She could have added that time-worn comment of many coaches, "I don't schedule 'em, I just play 'em."

Not in this contest; PDS was off and running from the start, outscoring the home forces, 18-6 at the end of one period, and by the same score in the second. Kelly went to her bench early on, and the reserves, David Wise, Kirk Heath and Mike Moyer in particular, proved to be just as able as the starters.

Chris Jones led the first five with 16 points in less than a half of playing time. James Reed added seven and Harvey Bradley, eight. Wise had a superlative game as a substitute, scoring 14 points and grabbing seven rebounds.

Despite the blowout, Kelly saw plenty of room for improvement. "We were raggedy at times today," she said. "We have to learn to pass better; we have to be more patient."

Kelly was pleased with her team's defensive effort. The Panthers did not allow St. Joe's to score in double figures in any quarter, and it made just nine of 45 shots.

The pair of outings against Prep B opponents this week will be much more meaningful for the Panthers. They'll face Neumann Prep at home Wednesday, and Wardlaw-Hartridge away on Friday. After the loss to another conference foe, Dwight-Englewood in December, PDS needs to get on the right track for the seeding in the post-season tournament.

TRYING TO KEEP UP WITH JONES: Princeton Day's Chris Jones, going for two here, went through, over and around the St. Joseph's defense on the way to a game-high 16 points last Friday. The Panthers romped to any easy 65-25 triumph.

PDS Hockey Wins 4th; Hill Next on Schedule

The Princeton Day hockey team scored in double digits for the second time this season, beating Portledge School, 10-7, at the PDS rink last Wednesday.

The victory, the fourth in five starts for the Panthers, was the second in a row over the Long Island school. PDS won 6-5 last season. Now, coach Allen Bourbeau's team has had a week to prepare for a school it hasn't beaten in close to 20 seasons.

The Blue and White will travel to Pottstown, Pa., this Wednesday to meet Hill. Year after year the Blue and Grey has come out on top in this one-sided rivalry, even in years when PDS has managed to defeat Lawrenceville. Last year at home, Princeton Day came the closest it has in years, outplaying Hill through three periods, but winding up on the short end of a 3-2 score.

This time the Panthers will have to survive a bus trip of more than 90 minutes before stepping on the ice. They'll also have be more disciplined on defense, and not count on merely outscoring their opponents. A 10-7 triumph certainly counts just as much, but 4-1 would be more impressive.

Bourbeau is working on making his players become more disciplined in their own zone, and teaching them not to leave opposing forwards uncovered. However, this is his first season, and only so much learning can be pounded into the players' heads.

At the start of Wednesday's game, it appeared the PDS skaters had forgotten a few things over the two-week Christmas break. The Panthers had no trouble scoring, but neither did the visitors. Goals came thick and fast on both sides, and with eight minutes gone, Portledge led, 4-3.

"The first period, we did not play well; we got outplayed," Bourbeau admitted. Still, thanks to the efforts of the B&B boys (Charlie Baker and Ara Baronian), PDS led 5-4 at the end of the first period. Baker tied the score at four apiece, assisted by Baronian and Steve Eaton. Forty seconds later, Baronian put the Panthers ahead, 5-4.

The second period found Princeton Day much improved. It added three goals to its 5-4 lead at one end, and shut out the visitors at the other. With the outcome pretty much decided, the teams went back to trading goals in the third period.

Baker and Baronian tallied four goals apiece. Baker also notched three assists; Christian Batcha and Daniel Bushell scored the other two. Others credited with assists were: Stuart Katzoff, two, and Tim Babbitt and Judd Henderson, one apiece.

Jamie Francomano stopped 23 of 30 shots, and drew praise from Bourbeau for playing "an excellent game."

PDS Girls Basketball Defeats Stuart, 73-13

A week ago Wednesday, the Panthers began the new year in easy style, trouncing Stuart Country Day, 73-13, on its own court.

The game was a mismatch from the opening tip-off, and PDS led 30-2 after just one period. The home team was held to just one basket in two other periods as well, scoring just four points in the second half. Sarah Foster and Timory Howe did most of the damage for PDS, scoring 23 and 22 points, respectively, before Thomas sat them down for a long rest. Foster also had 11 assists, 12 rebounds and a dozen steals; Julie Howard added 10 points.

Thomas cleared her bench in an effort to keep the score respectable, but the rout continued.

Friday's contest with Newark Academy was postponed, because of the death of senior Mark Winstanley that morning.

This past Tuesday PDS was scheduled to play its first of six consecutive home games, with Pingry as the first opponent. George School will visit on Wednesday and Lawrence High this Saturday.

Winter Sports Resume At Hun After Holidays

Winter sports teams at the Hun School will resume their regular-season competition following the holiday break.

Hun's undefeated basketball team (10-0) was scheduled to resume against St. Benedict's and will host Academy of New Church this Wednesday at 3:30 and rival Pennington School Saturday evening at 8. The latter will be a rematch of their last meeting a week ago when Hun defeated Pennington to win the 1989 Coaches Holiday Roundball Classic Tournament.

Idle since December 14, the Hun girls' basketball team will be at Stuart School this Wednesday and at Peddie on Friday afternoon. It will host West Windsor in a Saturday contest starting at 6.

Coach Jim Nehlig's wrestling team will seek to gain its first win after three opening losses when it travels to Dwight-Englewood Saturday morning for a match starting at 11:30. On Tuesday at 3:30, Hun will host a tri-match with Jamesburg and Hopewell.

Fields

with a 220-foot radius, this field will be slightly larger and allow more flexibility of use. It will not be fenced, and when not in use will look like lawn, Mr. Bottger said. All three fields will be regraded and given underdrainage. Because the slope is down toward the woods and stream in each direction from the batter's box, a minimum of earthwork will be required, he said.

The fields will be fully irrigated with an automatic sprinkling system controlled by a computerized time clock located in the restroom/storage shed There will be backstops with safety netting over top at the head of each field, along with team benches and five-tier portable aluminum bleachers on either side of the batter's box and baselines.

Basketball Area

A single basketball area will be installed with new backboards. Existing playground equipment will be discarded, as it is in poor condition, and a new tot lot will be created. The area will be edged in wood and have a safety floor of specially treated, fire-retardant and resilient material called "fibar."

Mr. Bottger said the Department of Environmental Protection has ruled that sand can no longer be used for playground flooring because it gets compacted and could be injurious to someone falling on it. New riprap material will be installed under the concrete slab supporting a storm drain in the wooded area, and two of the three bridges in that area will be removed. One of the existing bridges will be relocated, and the concrete path that follows an easement owned by the Elizabethtown Water Company from Grover Avenue may be replaced with black top.

Negotiations are under way with the owners of the Princeton Shopping Center for acquiring a 15-foot-wide easement along the parking area so that the 200-foot radius can be achieved without destroying all the trees at the edge of the parking lot. A split rail fence will be installed between the parking lot and the park, partly to keep cars from driving onto the new fields and partly for the look they will impart.

Estimated Cost — $800,000

The total cost for these renovations to Grover Park are estimated to be $800,000. Mr. Bottger said proudly that the fields will be the best Little League fields in town and the park will become the "hub" of Little League activity. Councilman Roger Martindell asked why Grover was chosen as the hub of Little League activity.

Mr. Bottger and members of the Recreation Department told him that the physical dimensions of the park limited it to Little League. There isn't room for baselines long enough for men's softball, and the park isn't wide enough for soccer, they said.

Donald Barr, Recreation director, said that after Grover Park is put into use in the spring of 1991, men's softball teams will move to Community Park, which will become the center of softball activity.

The softball field that will be constructed at Hilltop Park under the proposed two-park renovation scheme will have a 275-foot radius and will be for all aspects of softball — men's and women's and co-ed This field will also be illuminated, which will double the usefulness.

Mr. Bottger spoke of six concrete poles standing 60 feet above ground, to which four or five lights per pole will be affixed. He said that athletic field lighting technology has advanced rapidly in the last decade, and the lights will be so well aimed, shielded and focused that there will be no light spillage to adjacent areas.

The softball field will be located toward Mt. Lucas Road, but not right next to it because of wetlands. A new soccer field will also be created at Hilltop Park closer to Bunn Drive. There will be some clearing of trees to create each of these fields, according to Mr. Bottger.

The Hilltop fields will receive the same underdraining, automated irrigation, bleachers and team benches that the Grover Park fields will be given. There will be parking for 30 cars on a gravel-topped parking lot, with additional parking on grass for 20 cars. The parking will be north of existing vegetable gardens tilled by the residents of Princeton Community Village.

The parking area will be illuminated, but the poles will be 15- to 18-feet and will be made of wood. These lights could be tied to the same timer that controls the lights at the softball field, Mr. Bottger suggested.

The consultant helping Benedict Yedlin develop the Campbell Woods tract directly north of Hilltop Park had suggested in a letter to Mr. Yedlin that parking be located south of the vegetable gardens. Mr. Yedlin told the Planning Board during its review of the park renovations last week that he strongly objected to the lack of toilet facilities at Hilltop Park. He also said that he felt the amount of parking that was being proposed was inadequate.

Mr. Bottger told Borough Council and Township Committee that Greenacres would not look favorably on its moneys going to a blacktopped parking area for 50 cars; therefore he had limited the parking and put it on gravel and grass. The location was not discussed.

Mr. Bottger also said he had not included a restroom/storage shed at Hilltop as he had at Grover Park, partly because of expense ($70,000 to $75,000 for a 600-square foot structure with plumbing and electricity), and partly because he felt there was greater opportunity for vandalism at Hilltop than at Grover.

Committeewoman Phyllis Marchand and Committeeman Thomas Poole favored renting porta-johns, but Councilwoman Mildred Trotman objected. "We should not build a luscious recreation area like this and put that kind of facility on it," Ms. Trotman said. If only one restroom was going to be built, she felt it was more important to put it at Hilltop than at Grover.

In the end, Council and Committee authorized the consultant to bid out two restroom/storage buildings, with the understanding that one could be deleted in the future. The total cost for the Hilltop renovation (without the restroom) is $525,000.

The park will have a gravel walking and biking trail through wetlands to Mt. Lucas Road. The existing play equipment will be moved slightly toward Bunn Drive, and the play area edged in wood and given the same fibar treatment underfoot that the Grover Park tot lot will receive. Picnic benches and additional landscaping will be added to both parks.

Martin Luther King Jr.'s Dream ...

King had a vision of social transformation, of a world where poverty, injustice and war were overcome. He believed that war and international violence were evil just as racial segregation was evil. He saw nonviolence as an answer to crucial political and moral questions... We must education others that the civil rights movement, the movement to end poverty, and the peace movement all were and are made up of ordinary people. People who have other jobs. People who have children. People who get tired. Ordinary people who believe that our world can be a better place for everyone.

As King would have said: let us call our beloved nation to a higher destiny, to a new plateau of compassion, to a more noble expression of humanity.

Sited on a gentle slope that is part of the Princeton Battlefield Historic

Battlebrook

District, the three gracious homes of Battlebrook reflect a commitment to craftsmanship and refined detail that is rarely present in new construction.

The objective of the developer, The Stoneleigh Corporation, was to design and build a home with 18th Century warmth and charm and 20th Century customized amenities. They have realized that goal by the sensitive integration of the classic Pennsylvania stone exterior with interior floor plans and specifications that accommodate today's lifestyle.

The integrity of the architecture and the thoughtful relationship of structure to site also reflect the builder's dedication to excellence.

Battlebrook offers you an unusual opportunity to live within the desirable Western section of Princeton in a residence of uncompromising luxury and quality.
